Florida Widow Flies Out to Sea in Search of Death

NOTES ARE LEFT REVEALING PLAN OF YOUNG WOMAN

Mrs. Stanton, Member of Prominent Jacksonville Family, Borrows Plane, Takes Little Fuel and Vanishes Into East.

HUSBAND KILLED IN RECENT CRASH

Friends Inclined To Abide by Request That No Search Be Made, Saying She Followed Plan.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 21.—(UP)—Grief-stricken by the recent death of her husband, Mrs. Louise Turk Stanton, daughter of a prominent family and Junior League leader, took off in a borrowed airplane this morning and was believed to have headed eastward over the Atlantic.

There was a four-hour gasoline supply in the plane's tanks, airport attendants said, and she was unreported tonight—hours after the last of the fuel should have been sucked into the motor.

"I'm just going out into space to find out what it's all about, and if there isn't anything—that's all, too," she wrote to Bert Maloney, manager of the airport and a friend.

"I'll be at sea and you can count on me, the job will be thorough," she warned. "I don't want any wreckage found."

Search Started. The finding of the notes—more than four hours after Mrs. Stanton had sent her plane into the air—sent three pilots maneuvering their planes over the ocean, but Maloney said this was "really a gesture" and explained the start made the chances of finding either the woman or traces of the plane almost negligible if she had flown until gas shortage dropped her into the water.

In her note to Maloney—but one of the seven that had been discovered tonight—Mrs. Stanton urged that the airport manager refrain from sending airplanes on any "dangerous searching" for her, and declared she was "sorry to have it that way, but it's better than having an aviation accident."

Before she left the field on her flight to an unknown destination, Mrs. Stanton, by letter, arranged for the replacement of the plane she borrowed. Mrs. Stanton's husband was killed.

Atlantan Found Guilty In Lafayette Killing

LAFAYETTE, Ga., Nov. 21.—(AP) James Hargis, 24, Atlanta produce dealer, was convicted here late today of the slaying last May of his business associate, Carl Scoggins, whose mutilated body was found beside a creek near here.

The jury which returned the verdict in a little more than an hour recommended mercy. Life imprisonment is mandatory with the verdict.

A mistrial ended the state's first effort to convict Hargis several weeks ago.

Treasury Aid Resigns In Protest on Inflation

O. M. W. Sprague Charges Roosevelt Gold Policy Is Imperilling Government Credit and Leading to Fiat Money.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Professor O. M. W. Sprague, executive assistant to the secretary of the treasury and an outstanding advocate of "hard money," resigned today and wrote a letter to President Roosevelt denouncing the administration's dollar devaluation program.

He said the gold policy threatened a "complete breakdown of the credit of the government." Sprague's resignation is the fourth change at the treasury in a week. Secretary Woodin took a leave of absence; Dean Acheson resigned as Woodin's assistant, and Henry Morgenthau Jr. was appointed to Acheson's post.

It came on the day a magazine of wide national circulation printed a pointed criticism of inflation by Bernard Baruch, until last summer a close advisor of the president.

Thus the battle lines were drawn sharply between the advocates of a so-called sound currency and the group headed by Morgenthau, which is in sympathy with Mr. Roosevelt's attempt to raise domestic commodity prices by beating down the value of the dollar on international exchanges.

"I'm surprised that it didn't take place earlier," said Morgenthau when informed of Sprague's resignation. "I don't agree with his economic theories."

Sprague, in his letter to Roosevelt, revealed he had been pushed to the background in the formulation of the recent financial policies of the administration, and he said "I have now reached the conclusion that there is no defense from a drift into unstrained inflation other than an aroused and organized public opinion."

Mr. Roosevelt studied economics under Sprague in Harvard, and recently he brought the professor to this country as an adviser in monetary matters.

Sprague was tempted away from a lucrative position with the Bank of England last April when the administration was looking for additional talent for its brain trust.

Sprague said that he would in the near future write a series of syndicated news articles in an effort to "sell" his economic views to the country.

Sprague, despite the pointed criticism of the administration in his letter of resignation, was in a jovial mood as he announced his resignation to newspapermen in his treasury department office, directly under Morgenthau's office.

Whether or not a successor would be appointed for Sprague's office was unknown tonight and Morgenthau, when asked whether Professor George F. Warren, sponsor of the gold plan, would succeed him, he said Warren would, "probably continue to teach classes."

Sprague revealed he had presented his letter of resignation to President Roosevelt last Thursday, but later decided to withhold the matter for a more auspicious moment.

Sprague made a careful analysis of

CHAMBER URGES ROOSEVELT HOLDS RETURN TO GOLD

Division Follows Lead of U. S. Body, Voting Against F. D. R. Policies.

Indorsement of the proposal of the United States Chamber of Commerce that President Roosevelt cease monetary experimentation and provide for an early return to a gold basis Tuesday afternoon was voted during the closing session of the conference of the southeastern division of the national chamber, after a warm debate.

Opponents of the resolution, led by L. H. Timmons, of Charlottesville, Va., sought to have the meeting adopt a resolution expressing confidence in the president's monetary policies and that he would fix a proper value to the dollar "when the wisdom of the administration dictates."

Fight for adoption of the resolution in support of the national chamber's stand was led by S. F. Claybaugh, of Birmingham, Ala., chairman of the resolutions committee. The original resolution passed 24 to 13.

Speakers at the sessions Tuesday included Dr. Clarence Poe, of Raleigh, N. C., editor of the Progressive Farmer and Southern Ruralist, who recommended the reduction of money crops to increase income and greater acreage of food and feed crops; Charles Barham, of Nashville, vice president of the N. C. & St. L. railway, who said that railroads are not asking along but hope for equality of treatment; regulation and taxation; John A. Law, president of Saxon Mills, of Spartanburg, S. C., a director of the WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 21.

(AP)—President Roosevelt is going ahead with his gold control monetary program, it was made known here tonight in the only reaction to the protesting resignation of O. M. W. Sprague, as special adviser to the treasury.

Apparently not surprised nor outwardly concerned, Mr. Roosevelt approved the Sprague resignation without comment. In response to inquiries Stephen T. Early, his secretary, stated the resignation would have no effect on the administration's monetary policy.

The complaint of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the violent protest of Sprague appear to have interested the president in the effort to work out a revaluation or devaluation of the dollar through his gold control drive.

There is no evidence of a public answer to the critics who were proposed by Sprague to organize for an opposition movement. The president will talk here Friday night at the dedication of the new Georgia Hall on the Warm Springs Foundation and will have the presidential attention today.

Mr. Roosevelt in this case also offered no comment. Mr. Early, who is

WALLACE AGREES TO AAA MILK PACT FOR STATE AREAS

New Agreement Fixes Retail Price at 12 Cents at Stores and 13 Cents Delivered; Spread Cut.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An agreement regulating distribution and sale of milk in five principal Georgia producing areas was given tentative approval today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to become effective when a sufficient representation of the dairy industry in the areas and the secretary give it final approval.

The agreement, drawn up under the agricultural adjustment act and designed to eliminate destructive competition and milk wars, was taken back to Georgia today by A. Scott Nance, an Atlanta producer-distributor, who said he expected to get the required signatures and final approval by the end of the week.

Representatives of the Georgia dairy industry were here working on the agreement and said they had power of attorney, but the administration ruled the signatures must be attached in the region affected.

The drafted agreement would fix retail prices at 12 cents a quart at stores and 13 cents delivered. Higher prices would be allowed for special milk. Restaurants, hospitals and other large users may buy at a whole-sale price fixed at 10.5 cents a quart.

Recognized charitable institutions and relief agencies may obtain milk at less than the wholesale rate.

Licenses incorporated. Prices established for producers are: Class 1 milk f. o. b. Atlanta.

CHEST WORKERS STRIVE FOR GOAL

Leaders Hope To Be Able To Hold "Victory Dinner" Tonight.

Atlanta's Community Chest workers, 2,500 strong, will swing into action early this morning for the final day of intensified effort to reach the goal of $422,655 by 6 o'clock tonight, the hour set for the filing of complete returns at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

With a total of $268,390 reported up to the time of the last meeting Monday, there still remained $154,266 to be collected or pledged to reach the Chest figure which has been given out by the welfare agencies associated as the minimum required.

Unless that is done, Chest officials believe the Atlanta Athletic Club will not have done their part, and the giant thermometer of mercy at Five Points will fail to reach the top registration "Nobody Will Starve."

Starting at zero, the "Five Will Starve" mercury has steadily mounted until it is hoped and believed that this year the objective will be reached.

"Victory Dinner" Planned. In anticipation that Atlanta will do their part, and that they will give as generously of their money as the workers have of both their time and money, it is hoped that tonight's gala meeting will be turned into a gala "Victory Dinner."

With the filing of complete returns to begin at 6 o'clock, said Herbert Porter, chairman, "we hope to 'Go Over the Top,' and that, as planned, we will be able to send a telegram to President Roosevelt at Warm Springs telling him of Atlanta's record."

Speedy Buses May Supplant Atlanta-Marietta Trolleys

Abandonment of the Atlanta-Marietta trolley line of the Atlanta-Northern railroad and conversion of the right-of-way into a new high-speed highway, with bus service replacing the interurban trolley cars, is being considered, it was learned Tuesday at the state capital.

Although the proposal is purely tentative and now has merely the status of a suggestion, it became known that the state highway commission has been approached as to its attitude on the matter and that at least one informal conference has been held on the subject.

The Atlanta-Northern line is owned by the Georgia Power Company, and it is claimed, a losing proposition because of the competition of motor transportation. The line was built about 1912 at tremendous cost and about 1912 at tremendous cost and about 1912 at tremendous cost.

Proponents of the idea hold that the interurban trolley right-of-way is the only feasible route for a high-speed highway between Atlanta and Marietta through the territory now served by the Dixie highway. Construction

METHODISTS OPEN SESSIONS TONIGHT

Important and Drastic Questions To Occupy North Ga. Conference.

By T. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Advance work for the current 67th annual session of the North Georgia Methodist conference got under way Tuesday, when Bishop John M. Moore and his cabinet of presiding elders met to consider arrangement of the pastors' appointments for next year, and will be continued today with a further meeting of the bishop and the cabinet, together with special called meetings of various boards and committees of the conference.

The formal opening of the conference will take place at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Wesley Memorial church. Daily sittings of the assembly will be held during the remainder of the week, concluding with the reading of appointments Sunday evening.

Outstanding in interest at this gathering, the twentieth to be held in Atlanta, is the choosing of delegates to attend the quadrennial general conference at Jackson, Miss., next year. It is said there is some question as to whether the conference will be held in Atlanta.

According to Methodist law, the conference is entitled to one clerical delegate for each 48 members of the conference, and an equal number of lay delegates.

Deaths, removals and transfers out of the conference so place the membership at present at 12,000 members, lacking two or three votes sufficient to elect seven delegates, as of four years ago. Should Bishop Moore rule that a majority number of 48 delegates be chosen, the conference will be held in Atlanta.

EINSTEIN TO PLAY VIOLIN TO AID JEWISH EXILES

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein, who has been reticent since coming to America as guest professor at Princeton University, will let his violin speak for him in a public concert here December 15.

The concert, to be held in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria, with tickets selling probably at $25 each, is a benefit for persons driven into exile by the Hitler government of Germany. Dr. Einstein himself has suffered confiscation of his property in Germany.

SEABOARD AIR LINE CUTS TO 1.5 CENTS

Road Reduces Fares to Level Announced Monday by Southern.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway, through its passenger traffic manager, G. Z. Phillips, Tuesday announced a reduction in passenger fares, cutting the rate to 1.12 cents per mile in coaches over the entire system and its subsidiaries.

Phillips, whose office is in Norfolk, Va., said here the new rates will be effective December 1 or as soon thereafter as possible. The rates follow:

One and one-half cents per mile in coaches.

Two cents per mile, round trip basis, good in Pullmans for 15 days.

Two and one-half cents per mile, round trip basis, good in Pullmans for 30 days.

Three cents per mile, one way rate, good in Pullmans without surcharge.

The announcement said there will be no surcharge collected in connection with Pullman tickets sold between any points on the Seaboard system and its subsidiaries.

INTERNAL FRICTION REMOVED AS BASIS OF SUDDEN MOVE

State Capitol Agog Over Quick Shift in Line-Up of Board; Principals Decline To Comment on Developments.

JOHN HECK NAMED MEMBER OF BOARD

Marietta Man Fills Vacancy; Changes Place Status of Barnett Court Action in Doubt.

Administration of the state highway department of Georgia Tuesday underwent another rapid-fire change with the resignation of Chairman J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, and the immediate appointment of W. E. Wilburn, of Oglethorpe, a member of the board, as chairman, and of John A. Heck, of Marietta, as a member to fill the vacancy.

No sooner had Governor Talmadge made public the shift in highway board membership than the wheels of Capitol speculation started grinding, fed by the point-blank refusal of all principals to comment on the resignation and new appointments spread through the Capitol like wildfire, and interest in the matter was increased by the possible effect of the change in officeholders on the quo warrantu suit filed by Captain J. W. Barnett, of Athens, against Mangham, who was appointed chairman after Barnett's defeat by the governor with the aid of the national guard.

Although attorneys declined to be quoted, it was pointed out that the probable effect of the change in chairmen will be to make the Barnett suit a moot question, in view of the fact that Mangham no longer holds the office, even if his favorable decision in the trial court was reversed he could not deliver to Barnett an office he no longer holds.

Two Theories Advanced. Of the many theories advanced by Capitol observers as reasons for the shift, two held the limelight: One, that friction had developed between the governor and Mangham, and two, that the Talmadge board of strategy had "pulled a fast one" on the Barnett forces, in that Barnett would be compelled to begin his suit all over again with the new chairman, who would place on the board and Wilburn as the defendant for the post of chairman.

In his conference with the press, Governor Talmadge was asked for the reason for Mangham's resignation. "I have nothing to say on the subject," the governor said.

Mangham, who is leaving the highway board offices after turning over his desk to Wilburn, told newspapermen: "I have nothing to say except that I have done my best." He emphasized

New Mexico Legion Charter Suspended

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Suspension of the charter of the New Mexico department was voted today by the national executive committee of the American Legion following an investigation of charges that legionnaires of that state have permitted their organization to become involved in partisan politics.

National Commander Edward A. Hayes was authorized to appoint a supervisory committee to control the department until it "may be safely returned to its members." The action is unprecedented in Legion annals.

The New Mexico department was charged with factionalism, political activity and padding the membership rolls to control the state organization. A four-day hearing was held by a subcommittee which reported its findings to the supreme governing body of the Legion. The executive committee adopted the report by a vote of 39 to 13.

JONES DENIES LOANS TO FAVORED FIRMS

R. F. C. Head Says Loans to 2 Companies Was After He Withdraw.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, denied in a report to a senate committee today that the corporation had made any loans to companies in which he was interested.

Jones reported that loans of $1,500,000 each had been made to the Bankers' Mortgage and the Midland Mortgage Company, but that he had disposed of all his interest in those companies before the loans were made.

He added he did not vote as a member of the board on extension of the loans to the two companies with which he had been previously connected.

A few days ago Jones told the committee in an executive session that his brother was connected with the Midland Mortgage Company.

Jones' report was accompanied by another from the RFC listing loans to 137 mortgage companies.

The committee received both reports in executive session.

City Employees Facing Holidays Without Pay

Atlanta's 4,500 municipal employees Tuesday faced the Christmas holiday season with the possibility that their December salaries will be unpaid, and carried forward into January, 1934.

The salary shortage presents the newest municipal fiscal emergency.

Schools have only $150,000 coming to them from anticipated revenues for the remainder of the year to meet pay rolls aggregating $245,000 a month.

It appeared that teachers and other employees will face a payless stretch of six weeks unless additional funds can be provided.

Mayor James L. Key probably will approve issuance of $200,000 in scrip today to meet November salaries of non-school employees, but December salaries for this group have not been provided.

Soviet Outlet Seen For American Cotton

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The New York Cotton Exchange service today made public statistics showing that Russia offered a large potential market for American cotton.

"At the present time, Russian consumption of all growths of cotton is about 2,000,000 bales," the statement said, "and is slowly increasing. Russia is now using very little American cotton, whereas, before the war, her mills consumed 400,000 to 500,000 bales annually."

"Owing to the difficulty in arranging purchases of cotton abroad, Russia has been forced to expand her own cotton acreage into areas where cotton growing is uneconomic. Since experts on Russia are of the opinion that Russian cotton production possibilities are limited to approximately 2,000,000 bales for the next few years at least, it would be necessary under such conditions for the Soviets to import about 1,500,000 bales of cotton for the remainder of their consumption requirements."

"American cotton, in all likelihood, would constitute the bulk of such imports."

Lee Tracy Racing To 'Escape' Mexico

MEXICO, D. F., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Lee Tracy, an American movie actor who had been in custody and questioned on a complaint that he had "offended public morals," left by airplane for Juarez and El Paso today, racing against a new order for his arrest which Heracleo Rodriguez, acting prosecutor of the federal district, said he was obtaining.

Tracy, after receiving the permission of police to leave, boarded a plane this morning in what authorities called an apparent violation of Rodriguez' order which freed him on his own recognizance on the condition that he remain in the city pending a further examination of the complaint. Rodriguez said he ordered the police in all border towns to arrest the actor.

The American was arrested for the second time yesterday on the complaint of Alfonso Esparza, a lawyer who said he and his 12-year-old daughter saw Tracy standing unclothed on the balcony of a hotel.

BRAVERY AWARD ARRIVES ONE HOUR AFTER MAN'S DEATH

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—(AP)—He was an old Indian fighter, a veteran of the Fourth United States cavalry and often he rode to the rescue of pioneers in distress.

Cassius M. Bobaugh fought many a battle with the Redskins, sailing out from Fort Sill in the Indian territory back in the days when a continent was being opened and Conestoga wagons lumbered westward.

He was wounded in the foot by an Indian arrow in the battle of Buffalo Wallow, and then he came back east to live in New Brighton, a steady, hard-working citizen.

Yesterday came a decoration for his service to his country—the purple heart award for bravery. It arrived just one hour after he died, at the age of 79.

Sword-Cane Owned by Henry Clay To Be Exhibited by Atlanta Owner

By BARBARA BAKER.

A sword-cane that has been in the possession of an Atlanta family since the time of Henry Clay will be among interesting antiques to be exhibited at the Biltmore hotel Thursday and Friday.

The story of the cane is told by John M. Mount Jr., great-grandson of the man to whom it was presented by Henry Clay. Mr. Mount is a member of the freshman class of Emory University.

The friendship between Mr. Clay and James Mount, the great-grandfather of Mr. Mount, began when both men lived in Virginia. Shortly after James married Amanda Bailey at her ancestral home, near Richmond, he moved with his young wife to Kentucky. The trip was made in a covered wagon. A small ladder-back chair, a mahogany sewing table, a set of Wedgwood china, a small trunk and Amanda's wedding dress, still in the possession of the Mount family, were all transported in the historic vehicle.

At the time they settled in Kentucky, 1847, Henry Clay was a prominent lawyer in Lexington. He was a frequent guest in the Mount home in Oldham county. In 1852, a short time before his death, he settled a law suit over a boundary line in favor of his friend, Mr. Mount. As an expression of the high esteem in which he held Mr. Mount, he presented him with his favorite walking cane.

The sword, which is fastened to the curved handle of the cane and fits snugly into the length, is a narrow piece of steel about one and a half feet long.

The exhibit of antiques at the Biltmore, where the cane will be seen in the downstairs ballroom, is under the John M. Mount Jr. and the Henry Clay sword cane which belonged to his great-grandfather.

Four Store Windows Smashed, Man Jailed

H. E. Marcus, manager of the Marcus Clothing Company, on Peachtree street, Patrolman E. T. Sims and Captain H. A. Gilbert, chief of the Buckhead fire department, teamed up late Tuesday night to interrupt the accumulating window-smashing proclivities of one Eddie Malone, about 50, of Akron, Ohio.

The policeman and his companions watched Malone toss a brick through the window of a clothing store at 20 Decatur street, stroll down the street, then return and take sundry articles from the window. Malone was arrested on a charge of burglary.

Earlier in the evening articles of clothing were taken from the Marcus Clothing Co. and the Dodge Clothing Company, adjoining houses on Broad street, and from the Joseph Germain jewelry store at 38 Broad. In each case a plate glass window had been shattered. Malone, when arrested, was wearing an overcoat which, according to Marcus, was stolen from his window.

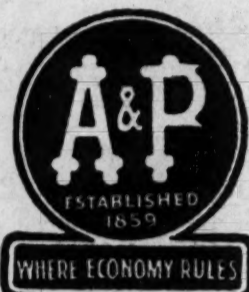

TWO YOUTHS ARRESTED IN BURGLARY OF STORE

Capture of two white youths, a burglary of a quartermaster headquarters at Fort McPherson and an attempted holdup featured crime activities in Atlanta Tuesday, according to police. Radio Patrolmen Sewell and Wright, investigating a reported burglary at a drug store at 923 Stewart avenue, arrested two men who gave the names of Lamar Kimball, 19, 845 Oak street, and Garnett Russell, 19, of 792 Dill avenue.

The thieves who broke into the quartermaster's store at the fort obtained a quantity of machinery destined for use at CCC camps, officers said.

A. Abelson, who conducts a general store at 224 Marietta street, reported to police that a negro youth drew a pistol on him Tuesday and ordered him to hold up his hands. He said the youth was frightened away before he obtained anything of value.

Decrease Predicted For Tobacco Exports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Despite a probable temporary increase in this year's exports, a further decline in the future foreign consumption of fine-cured tobacco through trade restriction and substitutions was predicted today by J. B. Hutson, chief of the farm administration tobacco section.

Referring to a study completed by the department of agriculture, Hutson asserted it disclosed growers must reduce 1934 production below that of 1933 if it is to be brought in line with consumption and growers are to realize price improvement.

He pointed out that approximately 90 per cent of the normal American fine-cured tobacco production is exported, two-thirds of the remainder made into cigars and the remainder used for manufactured tobacco.

Struck Down by Auto, Two Men Badly Hurt

H. B. Davis, 30, and A. R. Rawlings, 34, both residing at 1141 Seaboard avenue, were severely injured late Tuesday night when an automobile driven by Walter Reeves, of McCall, Ala., got out of control on Bankhead avenue, climbed the curb and struck the men down as they walked along the sidewalk.

Reeves took the men to the West Side hospital where examination showed that Davis, who is a mechanic, suffered internal injuries, several fractured ribs, and hurts about the head and right leg. Rawlings, who is an interior decorator, suffered a fractured hip, crushed back, and bruises about the head. The wheels of the car passed over both men.

Reeves said his brakes jammed as he attempted to apply them. He was on his way to Jackson, Ga., with a brother and had driven to the viaduct near Marietta street when the accident occurred.

Passenger Balances Plane As Motor Drops

COMMERCE, Texas, Nov. 21.—When fragments of an airplane proper bombed homes over a four-block area today the citizens left their noon-day meal excitedly. Outside they were met by a second menace—a falling airplane motor. It spun through the air and landed between the Methodist church and the postoffice building. Roy Taylor, Dallas, meanwhile, crawled to the front of the plane in which he and Claud Gossett were riding at an altitude of 1,500 feet, balanced with his weight the loss of the motive power and the ship glided to a safe landing east of town. Taylor said the propeller tip came off and shook the motor loose.

WARNING ON INFLATION SOUNDED BY BARUCH

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Bernard M. Baruch, in an article in this week's Saturday Evening Post, says that he believes "inflation is an enemy of mankind."

(In New York Mr. Baruch described the article as a digest of his testimony before the senate banking committee in February and made it clear the article itself was prepared in June before the administration announced phases of its present monetary program. "Anyway," he added, "so far there has been no real inflation.")

The New York financier said: "I believe that its employment is an act of desperation, working untold hardship into our economic and social system, and causing bitterness and malice to spread through human relationships, as does any act of exploitation, oppression and of unreasonable and unskillful use of political powers."

"Would anybody in this country be better off in his day-to-day relations with the world? Certainly not."

"The plan is deliberately designed to double some prices, but not others. Of course that means that some class is going to benefit at the expense of some other class, and before we rush blindly into this, we should find out who is going to get hurt and whether all this is truly for the greatest good of the greatest number."

Baruch said: "At a time like this, when millions are on starvation wages and millions more on no wages at all, a sudden doubling of prices without an immediate increase in wages would be the worst blow of the depression."

"Of 48,000,000 bread-winning workers counted in the 1930 census, not more than 8,000,000 could, by any stretch of the imagination, be classed as producers and also sellers of things—farmers, for example."

"Even if we were to suppose, therefore, that inflation would fulfill the utmost hopes of all the 8,000,000 producers of things, it would by just so much impair the fortunes of the 40,000,000 who are not producers of things."

RIDING THE CIRCUIT THE METHODIST CONFERENCE By Thos. M. Elliott

For the twentieth time the North Georgia Methodist conference is meeting in Atlanta. The annual session beginning today at Wesley Memorial church is the eighth consecutive meeting to be held here. When the Georgia conference was divided, in 1886, the north Georgia section held its first meeting here, in 1887; and since that time has met here every few years, until 1918, when it began its sessions here regularly, save for two years, when it assembled at Griffin and Augusta. From 1884 to 1900 is the longest period between years of meeting in Atlanta.

Conference Likes Atlanta. The probability is that the conference will continue meeting here for many years to come, for the conference folk like Atlanta. They like to come to the Capital City, for there is always something doing here. Many of the conference delegates have relatives here, and many of the preachers have at some time served churches here. All roads lead to Atlanta, and hotel facilities are convenient and numerous. Then it's fine to visit Atlanta just before Santa Claus time. Many of the preachers want to move to Atlanta, and it is said, a goodly number of the brethren hope to go to heaven by way of Atlanta, when they die.

Methodism's Densest Block. The immediate Atlanta vicinity has been declared the world's densest block of Methodism. The Atlanta district has 48 congregations, with a total membership of more than 31,000 and raised last year nearly $500,000 for all purposes. Six Atlanta Methodist churches have more than 1,000 members each, three have more than 1,300, and St. Mark church has more than 2,000. The Druid Hills Methodist church holds first place, with a membership of 2,562.

Women as Lay Delegates. Forty-six women are to be members of this conference session as lay delegates, representing the various districts. Nearly 200 lay delegates have been elected. Of the 46 women delegates nine are wives of preachers. They are Mrs. Wallace Rogers, of Atlanta; Mrs. George King, of White Plains; Mrs. A. S. Hutchinson, of Hephzibah; Mrs. J. R. Turner, of Dalton; Mrs. J. T. Eakes, of Monticello; Mrs. F. Q. Echols, of Loganville; Mrs. Arthur Mayes, of Connelia; Mrs. E. C. Sweatnam, of Gainesville, and Mrs. Marvin Williams, of Marietta. Also nine of the laywomen in the conference are from the Atlanta district. The LaGrange district sends only one woman. Mrs. John C. White, of Atlanta, who was a lay delegate for eight years consecutively from the Atlanta district, is not able to attend the conference this year. Many of the conference women are well known throughout the state. Among them are Mrs. E. N. Good, Mrs. A. G. Maxwell, Mrs. Wallace Rogers, Miss Daisy Davies, Mrs. M. E. Tilly, Mrs. Virlyn Moore, Mrs. E. W. Brogdon, Mrs. Mary H. Armour, Miss Bert Winter and Mrs. Marvin Williams.

Delegate-at-Large

North Georgia Fourth. The North Georgia conference ranks fourth in the number of pastoral changes among the entire Methodist connection, stating of the first 10 is as follows: Western North Carolina, 294; Virginia, 291; Alabama, 287; North Georgia, 279; Holston, 249; Texas, 241; Oklahoma, 238; North Carolina, 219; Central Texas, 216; South Georgia, 213. This conference ranks third in the total number of communicant members, with a little more than 150,000.

Seven Deaths This Year. Seven conference members have passed away in death this year, as follows: Rev. C. H. Branch, of Granville, on July 19; Rev. W. H. Budd, of Porterdale, on December 14; Rev. J. W. Gohar, of Woodstock, on August 21; Dr. W. H. LaPrade Sr., of Augusta, on June 19; Rev. W. A. Maxwell, of Jonesboro, on July 31; Rev. E. D. Pac, of West Point, on October 27; Rev. M. S. Williams, of Tate, on October 2. A memorial service will be held in their honor next Sunday afternoon.

Jabesh Gilead Is Here.

One of the early arrivals at the scene of the conference was Jabesh Gilead, who comes as a delegate-at-large, to represent the rural district. Not in many years has Uncle Jabe missed attending a conference session. He declared his greatest desire to be present this time. As is known, Uncle Jabe is one of the staunch members of the Little Red Church in the Piney Woods, on the Skyline circuit, where Rev. Silas Goodman is pastor in charge. Twenty-seven years he has been a steward in that church, and is considered the main supporting pillar. Uncle Jabe explained his early arrival at the conference in this way. "You see, I want to go to general conference as a delegate. For a long time I kept quiet about it; but when I saw so many fellows carrying on their campaign into the ring, and begin to pass by the church where I live, I thought I would bring a vote. Of course, I can't give the women any change, so I keep supplied with peppermint chewing gum."

Inquiry was made as to his manner of proceeding, and just what is his platform. Uncle Jabe replied: "I am running as an independent candidate, and planks in my platform are that laymen should be in the bishop's cabinet; that all preachers should get the same salary; that appointments should be by lot; that preachers should count all wedding fees as part of their salaries." It was pointed out to him that his platform is a rather fantastic structure, and that it is revolutionary. "Fantastic, nothing; it's got just as much sense in it as has many of the things proposed by preachers," said Jabesh Gilead as he hurried off to hand out cheroots to some fellow delegates from his section of the state.

Pastors' Salaries Short. There are 279 pastors in the North Georgia conference. Last year 108 of them failed to get their salaries in full. The total amount assessed for the pastors was $414,987. The total amount paid them was $308,376, a deficit of $46,611. The largest amount received by any one pastor was $6,625, while the lowest received $36. The highest paid presiding elder received $7,007, while the lowest received $2,985.

national chamber, who charged that labor has made unreasonable attempts to unionize industry under paragraph 7 of the NIRA; and Max B. Nahn, of Bowling Green, Ky., banker, who said that the science of marginal credits is still a new science, that banks are still pioneering on policy and that branch banking should not extend beyond the limits of intelligent credits.

RFC Director Speaks. Harvey C. Couch, director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, said that the RFC has poured $3,053,110,498 into the credit system of the United States and that the benefit of the money disbursed is hard to estimate. The most constructive job the RFC has in hand up to the moment is that of buying preferred stock in the banking system of the country, he said.

Other resolutions adopted by the meeting included an appeal to the NRA to establish a supplemental basic code fixing minimum wages in the south at not more than 70 per cent of those in the north and east. Lower costs of living and higher costs of distribution were cited as reasons for the proposed differential.

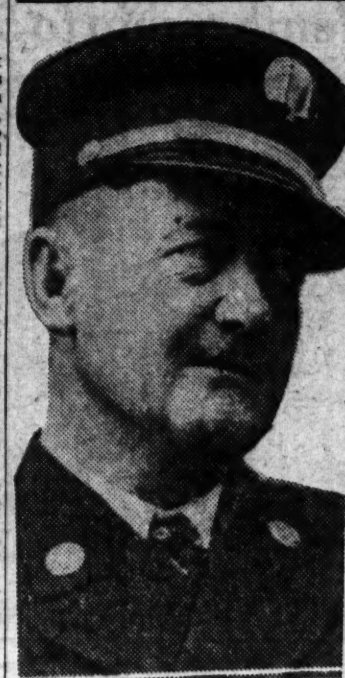

The division urged broader discretionary power for local NRA compliance boards, the speeding of public works, maintenance of adequate national defenses and that the secretary of agriculture quickly levy proper compensating taxes upon the competing fibers and materials and levy import duties on cotton waste from foreign countries sufficiently adequate to restore cotton to its fair and just economic position which it enjoyed prior to the levying of the processing tax.

Urges Deposit Insurance. The division also asked a modification of the securities act at the earliest possible date, with reference to personal liabilities of issuers and underwriters and making the administrative provisions more susceptible of practical operation on the ground that the act as constituted has interfered with the flow of private capital into various enterprises. Administration policies toward co-ordination of forms of transportation and to work out ways and means for consolidating the railways were endorsed. The meeting expressed its favor of continuing the guarantee of deposits under the banking act beyond July 1, 1934, and called on congress to safeguard the freedom of speech and rights of the press, to preserve the right of industries affected to regulate, by code and or marketing agreements, such unfair trade practices as are sought to be remedied in the proposed modification of the pure food and drug act.

Labor Clause Criticized. Mr. Law said that the labor clause of the NIRA needs clarification. "False statements put forth by irresponsible labor organizers," he said, "have occasioned unwarranted strikes and confusion contrary to the spirit of the movement and harmful and injurious to it."

Nothing can legally be written into the act that would compel any employee to join this or that union, Mr. Law said. "If the government is co-ing to act as a controlling force to bring the recalcitrant element into line, these disturbers of industrial peace should be made to understand that the fundamental principle of the recovery act is to live and let live; that definite facilities have been set up for the investigation of complaints and the peaceful settlement of difficulties and that the right to work or not to work is a prerogative of the individual and that the interference with the exercise of this right will not be tolerated," he said.

Director Couch of the RFC said that natural advantages of the south give it greater possibilities for manufacturing, and that paper and pulp plants should be established in the south. He emphasized that the national administration has no idea of gaining control of the country's banking system.

Dr. Poe predicted a greater diversification of crops in the south with food and feed products to replace money crops curtailed to boost prices. He defended the president's experimentation with gold and said that the farmers want a dollar with a parity with farm prices.

The meeting adopted a resolution calling upon the national chamber to hold sessions of the southeastern division each year.

CHICAGOAN ESCAPES FROM MISSOURI JAIL. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Joe Morgan, 43-year-old Chicagoan, held here for a series of abduction holdups, sawed out of a cell on the second floor of police headquarters last night and escaped. About four months ago he escaped from the Tennessee state prison.

NRA WILL EXPAND COMPLIANCE DRIVE

Johnson to Bring Number of Codes to F. D. R. for Approval.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—First orders in NRA's new campaign to obtain compliance from thousands of employers not reached by code authorities or local NRA boards are to be issued tomorrow.

Hugh S. Johnson informed reporters of this today, at the same time saying he intended a cleanup of a great number of pressing affairs before going to Georgia, Thursday, for a conference with President Roosevelt and a speech in Atlanta.

Johnson expects to take the newspaper and motion picture codes, together with possibly eight or ten more, down to Warm Springs for presidential approval. He declined to discuss details of these codes or their still unsettled points.

He hopes to have NRA fix the extent of mark-up or labor allowance provided for in the minimum price clause of the retail drug code, but not for general retail trade, since the latter has not requested action.

In answer to questions, Johnson said that, so far as he knew, he would not meet Henry Ford at the Warm Springs presidential cottage, as rumored persistently in recent days.

A further point disclosed by Johnson was that, after the president's volunteer re-employment agreements expire, employers not under codes will be expected to take the agreement terms if they want to keep their Blue Eagles. He did not suggest any administrative pressure to dissuade the non-coded from taking the Eagles down.

The expectation now is that half the industrial groupings of the country, including virtually all the important ones, will be under codes by the end of the year.

Johnson said the question of excluding skilled wages from codes, now the policy of NRA on the contention that it is not the government's function to create wage scales, merely to limit minimums, was being "seriously debated" in view of the intense demand of labor for such scales in the construction codes and others. His own opinion was that the government could properly provide that violation of wage scales once arrived at would be an unfair practice under a code, but that if the government determined all wages it would be interfering with the freedom of labor to bargain.

Young Democratic Clubs Launch Campaign To Build Up Membership to 50,000 in State

Leaders in the Young Democratic organization, which held a rally here Tuesday night. Those shown above are, left to right, seated: Miss Emily Griffin, of the headquarters staff, Atlanta; Miss Margaret Tate, of Tate, national committee woman; Clark Howell Jr., chairman of the state organization committee; Miss Caroline Noble Jones, of Savannah, state division vice president; and Hugh T. Inman, chairman of the fifth district organization committee; standing, Joe W. Ray, president of the Fulton county club; H. L. White, president Rockdale club; R. J. Reynolds, state president; and Baxter Gentry, president of the DeKalb club. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

Plans for organizing a Georgia membership 50,000 in the state division of the Young Democratic Clubs of America were discussed Tuesday night at a rally of the organization committees of the fifth congressional district.

R. J. Reynolds Jr., Atlanta lawyer and president of the Georgia division, urged young democrats, both young men and young women, to organize solidly in each congressional district, county, militia district, city, township and ward, and to perfect a militant and intelligent organization.

He said an organization meeting had been held recently in the Thomasville district and that similar meetings were planned at Warm Springs, Waycross and other points in the several districts.

Reynolds said the party nationally probably would have a greater battle on its hands in 1936 than it had in 1932 and said Georgia democrats should organize solidly to keep this state democratic.

Hugh T. Inman, fifth district organization committee chairman, was host at the dinner, which was attended by organization committee workers in Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale counties.

He praised the organization work done in the state by Major Clark Howell Jr., state organization chairman, Major Howell is business manager of The Atlanta Constitution, expressed his appreciation to young democrats throughout the state for their interest and said he was pleased at the "enthusiastic response" the recently formed organization had received in Georgia. He paid tribute to Reynolds and to Inman for their work in the organization.

Baxter Gentry, of DeKalb county; Harry White, of Rockdale county; Joe Ray, of Fulton county, all organization leaders; Margaret Tate, of Tate, Ga., national committee woman; Caroline Noble Jones, of Savannah, state division vice president, and Emily Griffin, of the headquarters staff, spoke briefly at the meeting.

Ray said Fulton county had been assigned a quota of 5,000 in the organization drive, but that he felt sure this number could be doubled if workers continued their task with enthusiasm. He expressed appreciation to the Fulton county workers for their interest and attendance at the meeting.

Tracing the history of the organization, Reynolds said it was formed at a meeting in Washington in March, 1932, with a membership of less than 100. He said there were 2,000,000 members by last November.

He said the state organization could be of great assistance to the national party and to its members by keeping members informed of pending legislation in the congress and in the state legislature and with political developments in general.

"It can do much good also in the way of honest primaries, which are the backbone of the party," Reynolds said.

"Without reflection, or the intention to reflect on any county committee charges have been bandied about that primaries in certain counties have been manipulated," Reynolds said. "An educational campaign carried on by the Young Democratic Clubs could do much to strengthen county committees."

Reynolds emphasized the organization, as such, could not endorse one democratic candidate against another.

Ex-Actress Denies Knowledge of Killing

PAULSBORO, N. J., Nov. 21.—(AP)

Between tearful calls for her children, Mrs. Audrey Smith Clark, 25-year-old former actress, today sobbed her love for her wealthy young husband, slain after a bitter quarrel with her.

Under police guard in a Woodbury hospital, where she was treated for a head wound inflicted by a billiard cue which investigators said was broken over her head by her husband, Sheldon A. Clark, oil company executive and sportsman, she maintained ignorance of the actual shooting.

"Nobody will ever know how much I cared for him and how much I had to put up with," she cried. "I'll never be able to tell why I did it. I don't remember anything after he hit me."

Toeprints To Be Recourse If Fingerprints Are Lost

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)

The police fingerprint bureau bids fair to become the "toeprint bureau."

Police Commissioner James S. Bolan disclosed today a police plan to defeat the latest reported move of criminals—having their fingerprints obliterated by plastic surgery.

Bus Office Robbed.
JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Two unmasked white men held up the Dixie Greyhound Bus Company in the downtown section of Jackson shortly before noon today, escaping with $135.

The robbers fled through a rear door of the bus depot and leaped into a waiting automobile.

REV. MIKELL SPEAKS AT EPISCOPAL MEET

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 21.—(AP)

The hand of welcome to visiting dignitaries of the Sewanee province of the Episcopal church was extended tonight by the Rt. Rev. William G. McDowell, of Birmingham, bishop of Alabama, as the annual conference of the province and the Woman's Auxiliary formally opened.

Throughout the day, standing committees of the province which covers 18 dioceses in Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, met in closed sessions to complete drafts of reports that will be made at tomorrow's business sessions.

The Rt. Rev. Henry J. Mikell, of Atlanta, president of the Sewanee province, was on hand to respond to the address of welcome as was Mrs.

AN INVITATION TO EVERYBODY

That the people of Atlanta and vicinity may become a little better acquainted with their dairyman and his products, and know how vigilant he is at all times to safeguard the health of you and your babies, he has sponsored the campaign that has appeared for the past ten weeks in The Constitution.

These educational articles have been run under the sponsorship of the GRADE A RAW MILK DAIRYMEN listed below, and they---individually---offer you a cordial INVITATION to visit their dairy farms at any time to see for yourself what goes on behind the scenes at the dairy which supplies you with REAL milk.

They want you to know the truth about milk---their milk especially---and they will be glad of the opportunity to show you personally. A tour of inspection of their dairy barns, milk rooms and about their farms will be welcomed.

The dairymen listed below have been selected to sponsor this campaign because of their reliability, integrity and unceasing desire to supply their customers with pure, clean, wholesome GRADE A RAW MILK every day. They'll appreciate, value and protect your good-will, patronage and friendship, for they are your neighbors. They work local people and spend their money here in Atlanta, where it benefits you, your firms and your friends.

Reviewing the Shows
Georgia's "Girl Missing"
Boast Splendid Cast
Seldom is a melodramatic mystery thriller fortified with so strong and well balanced a cast as was chosen to enact the leading part of the Warner Brothers production "Girl Missing," which opens a three-day engagement at the Georgia theatre today.
Five of the players have played stellar or leading roles either on the screen or stage or both, and others in the cast are almost equally well known. Ben Lyon, formerly of Atlanta, has the leading role while the three gold digging chorines who lie in wait to entrap him are played by Gladys Farrall, Mary Brian and Peggy Shannon.
Lyle Talbot has the heavy role and Guy Kibbee, the veteran actor, plays the part of a swarthy daddy who is just smart enough to leave the little chorines flat broke with a big hotel bill when they refuse to give any returns for their racket.
Other important roles are enacted by Harold Huber, Edward Ellis, Helen Ware and George Pat Collins. The picture is a mystery tale from the pens of Carl Erickson and Don Mullally who also adapted it for the screen.
In addition to the feature the Georgia offers a comedy "What Fur," Chubby the little bear in a cartoon and Paramount Sound News.
The long awaited "Tillie and Gus," with W. C. Fields, Allison Skipworth and Baby LeRoy arrives at the Georgia on Saturday.

Solomonoff Dancers
Give Program Today
Younger pupils of Mrs. Senia Solomonoff, Atlanta's famous teacher of the dance, will appear this afternoon at 2 o'clock in a program given for the Camp Fire Girls at Davison-Paxon
Company's tea room.
Ensemble dances will be presented by one of Mrs. Solomonoff's classes of youthful dancers, while several of the more advanced pupils will appear in solo numbers.
Among the soloists will be Ragolda
Jacobs, Barbara Ross, Christine
Jones, Mary Ann Liane and Betty
Ann Solomonoff.
Little Betty Ann Solomonoff, only three years old, will present a dance of her own composition, entitled
"Tambourine Dance," or as the baby calls it herself, "the Tangerine Dance."

COMPANY FORMED

FOR R.F.C. IN STATE
Machinery through which Georgia manufacturers and businessmen may borrow money to buy raw material, meet pay rolls and facilitate sales of finished products is being set up in Atlanta, according to an announcement Tuesday by P. Bayfield Gibson & Co., Inc., dealers in investment securities.
The formation of this company,
Mr. Gibson said, was suggested by the R. F. C. and is patterned after similar companies operating in other states. He said that his own company was extending the facilities of its office to the operation of the new company and would charge no brokerage or receive any other remuneration for its services.
The company will be known as the Mortgage Finance Corporation of Georgia, and a charter for it is expected in 10 days or so. The company is expected to be in operation by January 1. Ex-Governor Clifford Walker is handling the legal work, and the company's offices are at 1451
Healey building. The R. F. C., Mr.
Gibson pointed out, may not accept applications for loans from individual concerns. These applications, in the case of Georgia, must go through the Mortgage Finance Corporation.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A new antiseptic with extraordinarily powerful properties was announced today by Western Reserve University on the completion of experiments conducted by Dr. Enrique Ecker, associate professor of immunology, and an assistant, Dr. L. A.
Weed.
The substance was described as 1,200 times as powerful as carbolic acid in killing pathogenic bacteria, yet is non-poisonous, non-destructive of tissues of the body, colorless in solution, odorless, tasteless and non-corrosive to surgical instruments.
The university stated the discovery will clear up uncomplicated nose and throat infections in 24 hours. It was described as containing phenyl mer-curic nitrate and phenyl mercuric chloride.

Children Plant Trees Today In Honor of State's Leaders

Colorful Exercises Will Take Place in Georgia Bicentennial Forest, Sutton in Charge.

President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Pleasant A. Stovall, Savannah editor and president of the Georgia bicentennial commission; Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools and chairman of the commission; A. R. Rogers, director of the Georgia commission, are among those who will be honored today as Georgia school children pay tribute to leading men and women by planting living trees in the Georgia bicentennial forest.

The expressions of devotion will be held under the auspices of Sutton, who will be master of ceremonies, and scores of children from Atlanta and other schools are expected to participate in the exercises.

Trees were planted Monday and Tuesday to others who have been honored, including some of the state's leading men and women—those who have contributed unselfishly to the advancement and progress of the Empire state.

Miss Lula Kingsbery, principal of the English Avenue school, will speak on "The Honor Forest and What It Means."

Exercises This Morning.

Exercises will be held from 10 until 11 o'clock this morning, if the weather permits, it was announced by Miss Hattie Rainwater, supervisor of elementary schools of the Atlanta public school system.

Atlanta school children have made a special study of Georgia history in ferreting out those to be honored in the forest. They originally set out to select 71 leaders of the state to correspond with the 71 trustees appointed in England to aid Oglethorpe in establishing of the Georgia colony.

Today's program begins with the plantings, to be participated in by the 43 elementary schools to honor the memory of many Georgia leaders.

The program for today's exercises follows:

LARGE RAMSPECK ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR P.O. DEDICATION

Arrangements for the dedication of the new postoffice building, on December 2 at 11 o'clock were made Tuesday at a conference held in Mayor Key's office by Postmaster Large and Congressman Robert Ramspeck. Mayor Key was not present, but later approved the general plan.

This committee will be assisted by Captain I. H. Daniel, federal engineer, who has supervised construction of the building for the government.

Postmaster Large will be the temporary presiding officer. He will introduce an Atlanta minister, not yet selected, who will deliver the invocation, and Mayor Key, who will be master of ceremonies.

He will in turn introduce L. W. Robert Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury, and an assistant postmaster general, probably Harless Branch, who will make addresses. The flag will be unfurled and a band will play.

Grain Crash Debt Settlement Plan Offered to Creditors by Crawford

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A plan by which he would pay 65 per cent of his $2,600,000 debts over a period of two and a half years was submitted to a creditors' meeting today by Dr. E. A. Crawford, whose $50,000,000 holding were wiped out in the July crash of the Chicago grain market.

Early in August, the former Southern physician offered to pay his debts in full over a three-year period but his attorney, Samuel Slote, said tonight it was decided that procedure would place him under too great a handicap in his efforts to make a comeback in the cotton market.

"He is confident he will come back," Slote said. "His ailment was not a physical one—he swallowed more than he could chew properly."

Slote said Dr. Crawford's assets now amount to approximately $1,500,000, and under the plan submitted today he would pay 10 per cent of his readjusted liabilities within 30 days.

Thereafter he would pay at the rate of 15 per cent every four months. If accepted by the creditors, the plan will be submitted to the federal court for approval.

Dr. Crawford formerly lived in Bainbridge, Ga., where he was a practicing ear, nose and throat specialist.

AUTO ACCIDENT FATAL TO MILTON B. WILKES

Milton B. Wilkes, formerly service manager for the Cadillac Service Company here, and a resident of Detroit for the last year, where he held the same position, died in a hospital there Tuesday morning from injuries suffered in an automobile accident at about 8 o'clock Monday night.

The body will be brought to Atlanta for funeral and interment. Arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Kidneys Must Clean Out Acids

The only way your body can clean out acids and poisons wastes from your blood is thru the function of millions of tiny kidney tubes or filters, but be careful, don't use drastic, irritating drugs. If you don't, you'll get kidney and bladder trouble. You'll suffer from Getting Up Nights, Leg Pains, Nervousness, Stiffness, Burning, Smarting, Acidity, Neuritis or Rheumatic Pains, Lumbago, or Loss of Energy. Don't waste a minute. Try the Doctor's prescription called Grotex (pronounced Grotax). Formula in every package. Starts work in 45 minutes. Soothes and tones raw, irritated tissues. It is helping millions and is guaranteed to fix you up or money back on return of empty package. Grotex is only 75c at druggists.—(adv.)

POWER FIRMS SEEK TRANSFER OF CASE

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A move was made today to bring electric rate reduction proceedings against the Carolina Power and Light Company under state instead of federal court jurisdiction.

Attorneys for the South Carolina railroad commission obtained an order from Associate Justice John G. Stabler ruling the Raleigh, N. C. firm to show cause before the state supreme court January 8 why the reduction should not be enforced.

We have put KNEES in our automobiles... changing your ride to a glide

People have expected something spectacular to celebrate our 25th Anniversary, and they will not be disappointed. Our 1934 cars are not the 1933 cars improved; they are the result of a far-reaching change in automobile design. To explain this very technical advance in a thoroughly non-technical fashion, we invite you to glance at the pictures below.

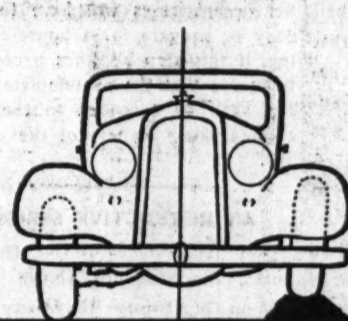

HOW KNEE-ACTION WHEELS WORK

Your present car is stiff-legged. Stiff front springs are rigidly joined by an I-beam front axle. So when you hit a bump the front of the car bounces, the rear pitches, and you are jarred.

See how serenely a man meets a bump. One knee bends easily, lifting its leg. The other leg is not affected; equilibrium is undisturbed. The knee, not the body, takes the jar.

Now, 1934—no more I-beam axle, no stiff springs. The wheel, flexibly mounted on its own soft spring rises and falls like a knee to soak up the shocks, while the car glides on.

JUST WHY THEY GIVE YOU THE GLIDING RIDE

A NEW front wheel assembly, involving a separate soft spring attached to each wheel, abolishes the I-beam axle and the old front springs. Each wheel can step over a bump or a hole without communicating jar to the car or to the passengers in it.

For more than two years, in its Laboratories and on its Proving Ground, General Motors has been at work pioneering the principle of these Knee-Action Wheels. No motoring improvement has ever been more thoroughly tested and proved.

The difference in comfort produced by Knee-Action Wheels, especially on the back seat, is beyond description.

There is smoothness at high speeds and a steadiness and clinging to the road almost unbelievable.

Safety is much increased—the life of the car extended. There is no tramp of wheels on the road, no jerk on the steering wheel. Shake and shimmy are banished. Except for setting the course, your hands are at rest.

Have you watched a bird glide smoothly through the calm of a summer day? You may now travel almost as smoothly. With the ups-and-downs absorbed by Knee-Action Wheels, with drafts abolished by Fisher No-Draft Ventilation, the motor ride of yesterday is gone. Our cars of 1934 will glide.

MAUREN O'SULLIVAN UNDERGOES OPERATION

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Maureen O'Sullivan, black-haired Irish film actress, was reported resting comfortably in a Hollywood hospital today after an emergency operation for acute appendicitis last night.

Four Plane Passengers Saved by Pilot's Skill

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Four passengers aboard a west-bound American Airways mail and passenger plane today had the skill of R. W. Sanford, pilot, to thank for their safety. Sanford discovered that his right wheel was broken, five minutes after leaving the airport here for Fort Worth. Signalling airport officials, he turned and started back. With ambulances and fire engines standing anxiously by, the plane was brought gently down on one wheel and the passengers were hardly jarred.

OVERTON CLASHES WITH CONNALLY

Long Ally Accuses Committee of Unfairness at Louisiana Vote Hearing.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An uproar was created late today before the senate committee investigating the election of Senator John H. Overton when Chairman Connally, democrat, Texas, clashed with Senator Overton over procedure to the accompaniment of stamps, cheers and howls of the hundreds of spectators.

Chairman Connally was pressing down on a witness who had said he had switched on election day from ex-Senator Edwin Broussard, the defeated candidate, to Senator Overton and Senator Overton interrupted to object that Chairman Connally was trying to impeach his own witness and was asking leading questions.

Then both senators, red of face and with angry gestures, snapped at each other across the counsel table. Chairman Connally said the committee was after the facts and were not bound by court rules of evidence and Senator Overton shouted that he had "never gotten a fair and square deal" from the committee.

"I want to observe," said Chairman Connally, rising from the counsel table, "I am not an expert on testimony. I want to further observe as I have already observed, that this is not a court trial, but an investigation. This committee does not need to recognize anybody or observe any rules."

"We have got to put unwilling witnesses on the stand. There have been charges of intimidation, influence to change sides, bribery and the like. How are we going to find out the truth unless we put fellows on the stand and find out the best way we can, even if we have to corkscrew it out of them. This committee is trying to find out only one thing, and I speak for Senators Logan and Thomas, and that is the truth from witnesses from both sides. We've got no other purpose except to find out the truth."

Then Senator Overton arose and impassionately said:

"I haven't gone before the press of the country to argue my case. I have intended to make my fight before this committee and if necessary before the United States senate. I do not agree with Senator Connally that this committee is to sit as a grand jury. I have been attacked by the inimicable public press of the country. They have torn down my character and have assailed my right and fitness to sit as a member of the United States senate."

I had hoped to come into this case on its merits but from the very beginning of this inquisition I haven't got a fair deal."

RESOLUTION DEPLORES DR. H. W. SHAW'S DEATH

The state board of control Tuesday held public a resolution of regret for the death of Dr. H. W. Shaw, of Augusta, a member of the board.

"Prominent in the civic, social and professional life of his beloved city of Augusta," the resolution said, "he had rendered outstanding service both to his home community and the state at large."

NEW KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISCOVERY

Mysterious Healing Properties of the Mexican Century Plant.

Larchmont, N. Y. A recent announcement states that many American doctors have reported remarkable results in the treatment of certain chronic kidney and bladder inflammations. The report further states that after 8 years of extensive experimentation and patient response, the famous Mayaguez active essence can now be obtained in this country for home treatment—distributed under the name of AGAVAN TABLETS.

A medical journal contained an enthusiastic article about many Americans who have been sent to Mexico suffering from certain forms of chronic kidney and bladder inflammations in a critical condition—were much benefited by this God-given remedy. A complete clinical report after the most exacting tests made in the laboratories of hospitals and a great university, and the history of AGAVAN will be mailed to interested parties—there is no obligation. The AGAVAN kidney and bladder treatment is not to be confused with QUACK patent medicines. Over 2,000 licensed physicians have used AGAVAN in certain chronic kidney and bladder inflammations with highly satisfactory results. Merely send post card or letter for complete AGAVAN Report. Write: Dr. Philip Newton, Larchmont, New York, P. O. Box B-810. Address—AGAVAN in many cases corrects the misery and discomfort of frequent getting up at night.—(adv.)

BLACKBIRD CONVENTION.

Great flocks of blackbirds are to be seen around Atlanta nowadays, circling in massed flight over the middle of the city. The state capitol seems to be the center of their flights, for huge flocks may be seen on all sides of that building late in the afternoon, going through amazing series of flights.

While watching them one may see small groups of five to 20 birds approach each other, fuse into one flock, sever as one bird, and fly on to meet still other groups. There is formed in this manner large flights of hundreds of the birds in a single mass, yet when the mass swoops downward upon some unseen objective, the flock may split into two divergent flights. Never have I seen more than two groups meet at once, nor a large flock split into more than two parts.

Flying away from the watcher the birds may be almost out of sight when they suddenly swoop at right angles to the line of flight and be again visible as a vast, quivering cloud.

They rather remind me of the purple martins that congregate here so thickly earlier in the year. Earle Greene is my authority for the statement that the latest record for fall migration was September 23, 1933, in the case of the purple martin. This statement is inserted for the benefit of those who speak of the present flocks as martins.

There is a difference in the flight of the two species, both in mass and in individual flying. The blackbirds are constantly winging their way along, with almost no gliding at all. Occasional individuals spread their wings for a glide of a few yards, but the martins in flight flutter a while, and then soar as far as they fly.

The cries of the blackbirds in the trees around the capitol remind me of nothing so much as a rusty pulley squeaking under its load. The martins in flight, on the other hand, carry on an endless twitter of wiry chirps, more sprightly and dainty than the coarser squalls of the blackbirds.

Having come this far in my account without having to mention the kind of blackbird I am describing, I think I had better get down to brass tacks and say a bit about the bird themselves.

They are rusty blackbirds. Just that. Drab and unexciting in color, they are familiar sights to every person that has spent any time affield. Negroes, with a fine disregard for the migratory bird treaty act, class all blackbirds as "good eatin'" and make them into stew which are said to be delicious. Rusty blackbirds are real bird personalities and as such deserve your attention.

Settle Flies to Washington With Data on Stratosphere

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A much bedraggled but smiling Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle climbed out of an unannounced coast guard plane this afternoon and received the congratulations of an immigration committee at the naval air station for his stratosphere flight.

His balloon landed in a New Jersey swamp last night. Settle had hurried to Washington to see his mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Settle, and attend to some business before returning to his post at the naval air station. The barograph, which will show how close he came to the altitude record claimed to have been set previously by a Russian balloonist, was brought to Washington by National Aeronautic Association officials soon afterwards, to be turned over to the bureau of standards for official calibration. Settle said the indicator showed a peak height of 50,000 feet was reached.

Major Chester L. Fordney, Settle's companion on the ascension, stayed in New Jersey to see that the flight gear was taken care of before following Settle to Washington later tonight.

Talking while he slipped out of a sheep-lined flying suit that had protected him during the hop from the landing site near Bridgeton, N. J., Settle told of the balloon flight and expressed conviction that the results of his observations would be worth while.

"We got a great deal of scientific data," he said. "What the actual results will be we won't know until the interested people have had an opportunity to go over our findings."

THRILL OF LANDING EQUALS THAT OF SOARING—SETTLE
BRIDGETON, N. J., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The achievement of an American stratosphere record had no more thrills to it than the safe landing of Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major C. L. Fordney, his copilot, who squashed to earth in the tidal marshes on the edge of Delaware bay.

After their contact with the earth and while much of south Jersey searched woods and fields, the two balloonists slept peacefully wrapped in the folds of the great gas bag that had carried them to new heights.

They came down in total darkness, eight miles southwest of Bridgeton, perilously close to the wide expanse of Delaware bay at 5:50 p. m. yesterday only to find themselves surrounded by the tidal water. They made the best of it after reconnoitering and let the world wait until dawn showed them the way out.

Commander Settle said he knew where he was and rather than take a chance of crossing the bay with his diminishing gas, he pulled the rip cord and down they came.

As they struck the ground Major Fordney, who was leaning out of the port, was jolted out of the gondola into the oozy mud and got a wetting. Commander Settle bumped his head against one of the instruments in the gondola and today showed a slight scratch.

Commander Settle said they reached their greatest altitude, which they figured was 50,000 feet, over McDonnellburg, Pa., which, incidentally, is one of the highest spots in southern Pennsylvania.

"I never felt better and I never had a better night's sleep," he said. At sun-up today Settle stayed with the balloon while Fordney floundered to dry land and trudged to the farm house of Samuel N. Johnson, two miles away, to let the world know they were safe. The Johnsons gave him breakfast and a room for the night. Settle turned over to Professor R. J. Stephenson of the University of Chicago, the scientific equipment which they had taken aloft.

Settle brought back something worth while for you," he said as he handed them over.

Loan Hike Proposal On Cotton Abandoned
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The national cotton parity price committee, after a conference with farm administration officials, announced tonight it would withdraw its suggestion that the government increase loans on cotton from a basis of 10 cents to approximately 15 cents a pound.

C. O. Moser, vice president of the American Cotton Co-operative Association and a parity committee official, said in a statement that this course did not mean the committee had abandoned its efforts to obtain a parity price for cotton.

Moser said it would continue to work in "harmony" with the administration in its efforts to obtain a parity price for cotton and would assist in the cotton acreage reduction campaign for next year.

ATLANTA DOCTOR SUED FOR FORMER PATIENT
Dr. C. W. Roberts, was named defendant in a suit for $25,000 damages filed in city court Tuesday by Mrs. R. L. Wood. Mrs. Wood alleges in her petition that she has been permanently injured as the result of administration of several doses of bromide of ammonia which she charges was negligently given her by Dr. Clyde L. Crawford, to whom Dr. Roberts had turned over her treatment for a nervous disorder, after she had paid Dr. Roberts for such treatment.

Mrs. Wood states that she entered Georgia Baptist hospital on September 30, 1931, under Dr. Roberts' care, and that instead of treating her himself he turned her over to Dr. Crawford, who, she says, was at the time young and inexperienced. The suit was filed by Attorney C. C. Hornbuckle.

DETROIT GIVEN FUNDS FOR SLUM CLEARANCE

20 Other Leading Cities To Get Money for Low-Cost Housing Projects.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The government moved further into the low-cost housing field today with the allotment of $100,000,000 for such construction and the selection of Detroit for the first federal slum clearance project.

The apartment house planned for Detroit by the corporation, is estimated to cost between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 and the public works chief, Secretary Ickes, said his agency was prepared to finance about 20 similar buildings in other cities.

The list was not made public but Ickes indicated that a list of the 20 largest cities in the country would not be far wrong.

In allotting the $100,000,000 to the housing corporation, the secretary said the Detroit project would not be built unless the price of the land to be acquired was reasonable.

A further condition was that the city ask the Michigan legislature to authorize a housing corporation to take over the Detroit construction eventually. Secretary Ickes said until the state set up a body to supervise such building the Detroit operation could be handled by the federal government through the housing corporation.

Officials estimated that the Detroit project, consisting of a row of two-story, fire-proof houses would provide six months employment for 2,000 men working 30 hours a week each.

The Detroit building, when completed, is to consist of 2,900 rooms which are expected by officials to be rented for about $6.30 a room a month.

WOMAN IS FINED $75 IN "POSSESSION" CASE
Self-preservation prevailed over friendship Tuesday when Miss Carrie Watkins refused to "take the rap" in the case of Mrs. H. T. Clark, alias Gertrude Nelms, who was fined $75 by Judge Jesse M. Wood on a charge of possessing liquor.

Mrs. Watkins told Judge Wood that she knew that she was "supposed to take the fall" in the case by admitting ownership of the liquor in question, but indicated that she had changed her mind, and testified that the liquor was not hers. Miss Watkins was living in the house with Mrs. Clark when the arrest was made. In passing sentence, Judge Wood told Mrs. Clark, who was already under a suspended sentence, that he was permitting her to pay the fine on condition that she remove to Danville, Ga., where she said that she is the owner of a small store.

MAN IS EXONERATED IN 'HOLDUP' FATALITY
Charges against C. C. Evans, of 378 Parkway drive, N. E., which were placed against him after he shot Ernest Foster to death on a street corner in the city of Atlanta, were dismissed Tuesday afternoon by Recorder A. W. Callaway. Evans testified he shot Foster when he saw him point a pistol at another man in what he thought was a holdup.

It developed that the supposed holdup victim, J. J. Brown, of 154 Delta place, and Foster were friends and that Foster was playing a prank when Evans charged to see the pistol and Brown raise his hands.

Recorder Callaway, after hearing the testimony of the two men, deplored the accident but expressed the opinion that it was entirely probable.

SCHOOL BOARD TO SEEK $200,000 CWA MONEY
Atlanta's board of education Tuesday prepared to seek $200,000 from civil works administration funds for improvements to the schools system. The program includes additions to Tech High, Highland and Morning-side schools.

Repairs to the following schools are contemplated: First Ward—Walker Street school (negro). Second Ward—Commercial High school. Third Ward—Slater school. Fourth Ward—Henry High school for Boys (Tech High and Boys' High). Fifth Ward—Maddox Junior High school. Sixth Ward—Williams Street school. Seventh Ward—Booker T. Washington High school (negro). Eighth Ward—O'Keefe Junior High school. Ninth Ward—Highland school. Tenth Ward—St. Ann's High school. Eleventh Ward—Murphy Junior High school. Twelfth Ward—Kirkwood school. Thirteenth Ward—Morningdale school.

We Grow but do not change

For the past decade the Fulton National Bank has had associated with it the word, "Friendly." During these years we have expanded. Our resources have grown. Additional offices have been opened that we might better serve Metropolitan Atlanta.

But our greatest pride today comes from still being known as the "Friendly Fulton."

It has been this policy of "friendly" cooperative dealings with people in all walks of life, numbering thousands, which has enabled us to grow. And in this policy we will never change.

Typewriter Picture of H. J. Stegeman From Tulip and Furnace Town

He is from Holland, Michigan, where the principal products are tulips and furnaces. Which is, I submit, a rare old combination. If one goes tip-toeing through the tulips at Holland one is very likely to stub his toe on a furnace.

He is, like most of the inhabitants of Holland, a big tall guy with the build of a heavyweight fighter. And Holland, which was settled by pioneers from the old country, is still occupied by a people, some 90 per cent of whom trace their ancestry back to Holland.

Herman Jerome Stegeman is the subject. He happens to be athletic director at the University of Georgia. And is one of the most unusual personalities in the southern sporting pages.

Stegeman was a good prep school athlete. He went to the University of Chicago in 1912 and finished in 1916, which proves that he applied himself with diligence to his books.

At Chicago he was an athlete who established a reputation for versatility and capability. He played end on the football team and was one of the best Chicago ever had. Alonzo Stagg, "the grand old man of the Midwest," who coached at Chicago for 30 years, was especially fond of "Steg."

He ran on the track team and was a member of a relay team which broke the world's record after one of the men had fallen down. The record didn't count because when the man fell he broke the baton and the succeeding runners could only touch hands.

He played around a bit with college boxing and swimming. And he was one of the better basketball players in the mid-west.

RECORD ENDURANCE.

During the war he was an officer in charge of recreation work.

It was while he was stationed on the Gulf coast that he set a record for endurance. His twin children, a boy and a girl, were born one morning about 4 o'clock at a hospital. He spent the night there until he was permitted to look at the twins and then caught a 5 o'clock trolley and went out to the camp to give caelesthenics to about 3,000 soldiers.

It was the day of the big field day. That morning he refereed and acted as master of ceremonies for a regatta. There were dozens of races. He then pulled an oar in one of the races.

After the morning regatta he managed a large field day with individual races and field events. Following this he caught a baseball game and made two hits.

In the afternoon he played a full football game at the full-back position. He scored two touchdowns, one after a run of 90 yards.

In the evening he refereed nine boxing matches which were not finished up until midnight. When all his chores were done it was time to start back to the field to give the next morning's caelesthenics.

I doubt if all the annals of sport contain the record of this much endurance. It was impossible for him to get back to see his children for almost three days. When he did get there he found the mother almost in tears, fearing he had decided to leave because he was the father of twins.

There is a punch in either hand. And he still uses them if the necessity arises. But he is wonderfully patient. He has, I think, the most guileless manner imaginable but he is master of the use of sarcasm when he chooses to be. And when he chooses it is like strong drink in that it stings like an adder and biteth like a serpent. He will not, however, use it unless badgered and irritated right unto death.

He can, I think, dispose of some conversational or arguing pest with an ease and a felicity that is none the less destructive because of its insouciant ease. He usually leads the pest on, disarming him completely, and then literally sears and blows him from the earth with words which are all the more burning because of the previous disarmament.

A HERO TO HIS KIDS.

He is a hero to his kids and no kids ever had a better one. Because he has set them an example of frankness, honesty and sincerity and decent living.

The twins are a boy and a girl. And the third child is a daughter. He usually drives to get them when school is out.

He smokes either pipe, cigar or cigaret but prefers a pipe. He is very much of a stoic in times of stress. He sits with his pipe clenched between teeth and may even hum under his breath. He is, however, very emotional but rarely shows it. He is largely responsible for the great schedules which have given Georgia football national recognition.

His friends rate him as a terrible automobile driver. He drapes himself comfortably behind the wheel and often turns around to talk, giving the road a glance now and then to see that all is well. He gives passengers the jitters but has an absolute confidence in his ability to handle the car.

His hair is Holland color. That is blond. His eyes are blue with a suggestion of steel in them. He likes to read and has a wide range of likes. His favorite food is steak and chicken. He likes any dessert. His lunch is usually salad and sandwiches.

He is a strict disciplinarian. His job includes the position as dean of men. All student problems come to him. He manages them strictly and fairly.

HAS HELD ALL COACHING JOBS.

Before taking over the position of dean of men Stegeman was head football coach, track coach and basketball coach.

He likes to tell a story on himself. Just after he was out of the army he took a basketball team to a South Carolina town. He was wearing his first civilian suit and it was new. That night some friends had invited him out for a late dinner. He was washing up in the hotel wash room after the game. Two newsboys entered.

"Did you see the Georgia coach tonight?" asked one. "Yeah," said the other, "a big, tough looking guy, wasn't he?"

It happened that at the time Stegeman was looking in the mirror and thinking he looked pretty well.

He made a success of all his coaching jobs, producing good football, basketball and track teams.

He can, and does, talk on any subject. He has an unusually good knowledge of literature and is conversant with the arts. Holland turns them out that way. They can talk about tulips or furnaces.

STREAK BROKEN.

While Notre Dame was ending its long scoring drought last Saturday, the University of Louisville was going the Ramsboro one or two better. Louisville beat Eastern Kentucky, 13-6, for its first victory in 24 games.

SCORELESS TIES.

If Yale and Harvard should happen to battle to a tie this week it probably will be scoreless. These rivals in 51 games since 1875, have tied six times and each time the count was 0-0.

GEORGIA INJURY TOLL GROWING; LUDWIG ADDED

McCullough Is Hurt in Drill; Seven on Ailing List.

By Ralph McGill.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 21.—Georgia's crippled crew had two new recruits tonight as Yank Ludwig, veteran center, was sent to the infirmary with a chest injury received tackling the dummy, and Butch McCullough, regular guard, was hurt in scrimmage.

The list of injured at Georgia now includes the following:

1—Graham Batchelor, captain, injured knee.

2—Marion Gaston, fullback, out for season. Knee.

3—Buck Chapman, fullback, missed Auburn game. Doubtful.

4—John McKnight, center, bad shoulder.

5—Leroy Moorehead, guard, injured shoulder and knee.

6—Yank Ludwig, center, injured knee and chest.

7—Butch McCullough, guard, injured hip.

And these injuries are not bear stories. May I say that I was among those present Tuesday when Butch McCullough was helped from the field and Yank Ludwig was sent to the infirmary.

GASTON IS OUT.

Gaston will not play. Batchelor was hobbling through practice. Moorehead was not in uniform. Chapman, with 50 or 60 yards of tape and braces on his leg, walked through a few plays and retired.

McKnight walked through some early dummy drills and was through. Ludwig will not play Saturday. McCullough is also a doubtful starter.

In these days of bear stories these would sound very much like a recital about the bear that went over the mountain. But they happen to be true in this instance.

And for this reason, the odds, if any, seem to be about even or perhaps in favor of Georgia Tech as the two teams make ready for the game Saturday at Grant field.

25,000 EXPECTED.

The tickets, they say, are going fast. And a crowd of some 25,000 will see the game. Maybe more. And there is every indication that the paying guests will see a football game well worth the price.

Georgia, I think, would be favored to win if all her man power was in there. The Georgia problem is not changed because of the defeat by Auburn last week.

If Georgia was the favorite team over Tech before that game then Georgia is still the favorite. But not with her regulars out.

As matters now stand it is assured that the regular center, Yank Ludwig, will not start.

The two regular guards, Moorehead and McCullough, are doubtful.

BATCHELOR DOUBTFUL.

Batchelor, captain and end, is also doubtful. Chapman, the regular fullback, is also doubtful.

Others injured are reserves. Georgia went through a long scrimmage against Tech plays Tuesday afternoon. The average was about 50-50. The scrubs had the use of Joe Crouch at fullback. He was running like a fiend in Tuesday's drills, in marked contrast to his uncertainty in Saturday's game. It was his furious charge on an off-tackle play which injured McCullough.

Twice Crouch got away for long gains. Three times passes were completed.

A patched varsity line-up worked hard but was uncertain. The ends had a difficult time.

TECH SUPERIOR.

Georgia's superior reported from the Tech-Alabama game and rated Tech as the superior team. Ted Twomey pronounced the Jackets to be a powerful and formidable eleven. He liked the Wilcox brothers at guards and also the general demeanor of the Jackets.

Georgia has forgot the Auburn defeat and will concentrate on Tech. But Georgia has a difficult task ahead. And Georgia knows it. Unless the Georgia man power returns the Jackets are likely to enter the game as favorites, a condition which was undreamed of a few weeks ago.

A scrimmage is set for today. Georgia will come to Atlanta on Friday night before the game Saturday.

Georgia's first professional basketball team, which will be a member of the new pro league recently organized, tentative plans call for a 30-game schedule, starting on December 8, between the six teams of the league, which at present include Chattanooga, Birmingham, Atlanta, Knoxville, Macon and Nashville. Two of the teams have not definitely announced their intentions of entering clubs, but the league is expected to open with this setup. New Orleans and Memphis were denied membership due to the long jumps there.

Harry Richmond, Atlanta businessman, and Tom Slate are in charge of organizing the Atlanta club and some of the players they hope to sign are Tommy Beeder and Johnny Phillips, former Tech stars. Bill Strickland of the University of Georgia; Joe McCrory and Pat Stephens, of the old Atlanta T. C. club; Nolen Richardson and Joyner White, former Georgia and Tech stars, respectively, and Jack English, Richardson and White also are well-known professional basketball players.

It is planned for each team to play one home game and one road game each week with exhibition games with such teams as the Celtics, Fort Wayne and independent clubs sandwiched in as opposition.

Exhibitions will be played away from home, par the fact. Richmond and Slate are enthusiastic about the Atlanta club and said they would go head with a four-club league in case two doubtful cities do not enter.

They have obtained the Atlanta auditorium for weekly dates and will start practice soon. All players of college, professional or high school experience may apply for tryouts to Mr. Richmond at the Stanley hotel or Mr. Slate at Spalding's.

The venture is the first pro trial for basketball in the south.

Somebody's Darlings

That's how Mike Chambers, Georgia Tech's popular trainer, feels about them, anyway. Mike is seen holding two of the crippled children from the Scottish Rite hospital, little June Willie and Homer Foreman, who will benefit along with hundreds of others from proceeds of the charity football game between Georgia and Tech freshmen at Grant field Thanksgiving Day. Some of the children visited Grant field yesterday and had their pictures made with Mike and the Tech players. Staff photo.

Feathers All-American, Bobby Dodd Reiterates

Former Vol Star, Now Tech Coach, Thinks He Is Greater Than McEver.

By Jimmy Jones.

Two years ago when Beattie Feathers was a sophomore at University of Tennessee, we recall writing an interview with Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech's capable young backfield coach, in which he (Bobby) predicted that Feathers would be an All-American back before he finished out his career with that institution.

At that time Bobby compared Feathers favorably to Gene McEver, Tennessee's other great running back of that year, and declared that there was very little, if any, to choose between them.

Saturday, when Tennessee sent Vanderbilt to the shambles under a 33-6 score, Feathers was the leader of the wrecking crew. If there had been any previous doubts about his qualifications for All-American, they should have been erased in that game.

Bobby Dodd, a shrewd judge of backfield talent, is confident that Feathers is an All-American and that right now, he is a better back than McEver was at his peak.

PLAYED WITH GENE.

"This is saying a lot for I played with Gene," says Bobby, but he can do things that McEver couldn't do. "For one thing, he is a great kicker—something that McEver wasn't—and he is a better passer. And as for running, well, this Feathers can get over the ground. Furthermore, he can block, is a fine defensive back and great competitor. If Feathers has a single solitary weakness, I don't know what it is."

Dodd is more enthusiastic about Feathers than any back we ever heard him discuss. In the first place, Bobby, as are all coaches, is enthusiastic about Feathers' size and speed. The Bristol boy weighs 190 pounds and is as fast as a streak.

"If Tennessee had gone the Rose Bowl this year and Feathers had had a chance to play before the coast critics, he would have come close to getting him, if they had," he continued. "Feathers is compared with the best ball carriers produced in that country," Dodd added.

Bobby considers it little short of a triumph that Tennessee had to lose to Maples and Wynne at one clip this year. Had those players remained in the lineup, it is his candid opinion that Tennessee would be undefeated and a sure Rose Bowl choice.

"I wish that a Rose Bowl crowd could have seen Feathers in action just once; they would never have forgotten him if they had," he continued. "This year's Tennessee team would have been one of Neyland's greatest."

Mississippi State Blocks, Tackles

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The first real practice this week found the Mississippi State football players back at the prosaic task of blocking and tackling, something the coaches hope they will improve in before tackling Louisiana State at Monroe next Saturday.

Slowness of the ends and tackles getting down the field under punts caused Coach MacKee to add to his list of desired improvements.

ference between a 4-point defeat and victory.

Oglethorpe was at least two touchdowns better than Citadel. That is the word brought back by those who saw the game. Two touchdowns better.

KNOWS HOW NOW.

And Coach Robertson knows now how he could have beaten the South Carolinians decisively. But knowing how after a game is almost as futile as going fishing for tarpon with a trout rod and hooking one.

The powers that be at Oglethorpe apparently have made no provision for scouting this year and the season's record is 5-00, whereas it might well be considerably better.

However, Coach Robertson has seen one opponent play this year. That is Mercer, the last opponent of the season. The Petrels and the Bears played December 2 at Macon.

Robertson thinks his team has a good chance against the formidable Bears.

Both teams have two weeks in which to prepare and the annual battle is expected to be a great one, despite Mercer's seeming advantage. The season's records mean little in the reason and anything is likely to happen.

Two FINE CHANCES.

But Oglethorpe did have an excellent chance to beat Chattanooga and Citadel. Two things combined to beat Oglethorpe at Chattanooga. One was a rifle from Atlanta on the morning of the game and the other was that Robertson hadn't seen Chattanooga play in two years.

It means a lot to know what the other team is using and to prepare a defense, even though it is hypothetical. Oglethorpe almost beat Chattanooga as it was. And a scouting game very likely would have meant the dif-

Officials See Sell-Out for Game at Grant Field Saturday.

By Jimmy Jones.

Georgia Tech will approach the half-way mark in its training program for Georgia with some welcome news today. It concerns "Shorty" Roberts, hard-playing little quarterback, who will get his release from Mike Chambers' comfortable training quarters this afternoon and put on his uniform for practice once more.

Trainer Chambers issued a very encouraging bulletin on Roberts last night giving forth the information that his twisted knee had mended better than anticipated and that while "Shorty" could not be trusted to scrimmage for a couple of days, his chance of starting against Georgia Saturday had been greatly enhanced.

"Part of it is due to Shorty's own efforts to get back," Mike declared, modestly ignoring his own night and day work at getting the diminutive field general of the Engineers back in harness.

CAN'T EVER TELL.

No one knows exactly how Tech's chances will stand in the pre-game balance. There are stories going around that the money wagers are giving the Jackets six points. But that means absolutely nothing in a Tech-Georgia game.

"Sun Dial" Martin, sophomore, who has been running at a halfback position, was shifted to second string fullback yesterday, replacing Dean, and Marvin (Pug) Boyd, another sophomore, was moved from a halfback to a quarterback post. Both players played at their new positions in scrimmage and showed up well.

The Jackets are immune to feelings. They will work like so many Trojans this week. And Tech has been a close match for Georgia in playing consistency this season. If Roberts is back to direct the offense and run back kicks, Tech will feel better about the matter.

And don't forget the fact that Tech has the two top-notch tackles of the conference, particularly on passing, in up to par Saturday, the game will be about a toss-up, also.

Alabama came to Atlanta with one of the greatest lines in the country and one of the greatest guards in Hupke. Yet Georgia Tech gained considerable ground through that line and not a little of it through Hupke, who played a roving game, often leaving his position open to thrusts by Phillips and the other backs.

There is little to choose between these two fine tackles. Tharpe is the more spectacular, Williams a trifle heavier. They are about a toss-up, some critics being about evenly divided on a choice.

If Tech's offense, which clicked magnificently against Florida and Alabama, particularly on passing, is up to par Saturday, the game will be about a toss-up, also.

Game to the Last, Wynn Gets Chance and Is Happy

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The score was Tennessee 32, Vanderbilt 6. It was in the third quarter. The Vols had given the Commodores their worst defeat in years. The Vandy players were weary, disappointed, down-hearted but sportsmen of the highest sort.

Breezy Wynn, a great fullback who had looked forward to a brilliant final season only to have his hopes shattered with an early game injury, a broken ankle, hobbles onto the field. It's his last appearance on the home gridiron, perhaps his last opportunity to strike a blow for Tennessee.

His injury hasn't healed. He'll never play again as a Tennessee fullback. But he's attended all practices, spending his time booting the ball across the goal. And now he has his chance... opportunity to kick the extra point after touchdown.

The stands are silent... there's a tear here and there among the spectators who have known Breezy... have known of his broken desires... The Vanderbilt players had respect and admiration for this battle... their captain, Gene Beck, gave instructions for no rushing in to block that kick... if the battered Wynn Continued on Second Sports Page.

Wallace Wade Is People's Choice For Rose Bowl

DUKE'S COACH VERY FAMILIAR WITH SETTING

Played in Classic and Then Made Alabama Frequent Visitor.

By Bryan Bell,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 21.—(AP)—If the football crystal gazers, who place their all-seeing eyes on football teams and say "you're it" for the Rose Bowl New Year's game, looked at coaches instead of players, Duke could be given the bid right now.

From a standpoint of familiarity with the surroundings of the rose-bowered stadium, Wallace W. Wade is the people's choice. Wade is one of the few eastern coaches who knows his way around the big bowl. He has visited it often enough to call every rose by its first name.

The burly coach of the team from the North Carolina tobacco belt first saw the Rose Bowl not so long ago as he now, in 1918 when he was a member of a Brown University team, opening the bowl and taking a 14-0 licking from a rugged, sure-footed Washington State team.

BAILED OUT.

Rain overhead and a sloppy turf did not dismay the Cougars but the Browns had to be bailed out at intervals. Most of the New Year's games are fought out on a sun-soaked battlefield but sometimes it does rain in southern California.

Wade, the coach, collected revenge in full measure for Wade, the player. In 1926 he brought his big, fast Crimson eleven from Alabama and cut the first notch on his gun with victory over the University of Washington, 20 to 19.

In 1927 Alabama was back again and this time scored a deadfall with Stanford, 7 to 7.

Wade had to wait until 1931 to square his personal account with Washington State, carried as unfinished business for 15 years. This time the Cougars and the team starting the series with Wade's alma mater, faced Alabama. The two previous games had been close but not so as Wade made his last appearance in the bowl as an Alabama coach.

He was even then all packed up and ready to move from Tuscaloosa to Durham, N. C., and Duke formerly Trinity, Alabama charged and passed all over the field to wind up with a 24-0 decision.

QUITE AT HOME.

So if Wade comes back with a brand-new entry to Rose Bowl competition he will feel quite at home. Incidentally if Duke is selected it will mark the sixth appearance in nine years of a team from the land of cotton, tobacco and peanuts.

The section where Dixie is the marching song has won three, lost one and tied one—by far the best record of any invading sectional force. The east has won one, lost six and tied two, while the west is 30-50 with one victory and one defeat.

During the two World War years service teams played.

Tidings from the Tarheel state say Duke has great tackles. If the Blue Devils invade the bowl, Stanford and Stanford should be the defender of the football honor of the west, they will need them.

If there is any question that strong tackles are essential against Stanford, an opinion may be had from the University of Southern California. It is violating no confidence to say that the Trojan vote will be an unrestrained affirmative.

New Morris Brown Star Gets Chance

Fletcher Parks, freshman backfield star at Morris Brown, and Mitchell, broken field runner, also seeing his first year of varsity may be heard from with Shing Jones, a veteran, and Hollingsworth, hard-plunging fullback, will be the backfield that Coach Billy Nickles is grooming for the Florida A. M. College game Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park.

Upon these players Morris Brown will be planning its offensive hope. Big Jim Reid and Lawton Williams, tackle and guard, respectively, will be the big guns of the defense against the fast-running attack of Eliebee and Johnson, triple-threat Florida backfield luminaries.

The Morris Brown forward wall, that has only yielded seven points all season and rated as one of the best in America, is working hard for the Florida invasion.

A scrimmage will be held against the Florida plays and formations today. Tickets for the game can be bought at the business office of Morris Brown on the campus.

METRIC SYSTEM IS APPROVED

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The 45th annual convention of the Amateur Athletic Union, leading sports governing body of the United States, today completed a memorable three-day session by electing Avery Brundage, of Chicago, its president for the sixth successive year and giving final and unanimous approval to the use of the metric system in championship track and field events.

An answer from the German Olympic committee to the resolution it passed yesterday condemning alleged discrimination in Germany against athletes of Jewish faith was accepted without comment at the closing session, and the task of wading through a dissenting vote when it came up in the report of the legislative committee. The Metropolitan and New England associations had petitioned for its abandonment, but neither made an active fight on the convention floor.

Amateur boxing came in for the major wallows, L. Di Benedetto, veteran association leader from New York, suggesting at one point that the A. A. U. withdraw from all control over it on the ground that it was so near the borderline of professionalism as now conducted that the union lost prestige by taking responsibility for the sport.

The argument started over a proposal by Martin A. Klein, president of the Metropolitan association, to amend the rules so that "merchandise" might be given as prizes in amateur boxing bouts.

Opponents of the amendment said the proposal was "open the door" to all sorts of abuses and several delegates expressed the opinion that the gold watches now given as prizes came too close to the borderline of professionalism. New York suggested only medals be awarded as prizes. The rule finally was allowed to stand as it is.

Managers for amateur boxers were ruled out and a suspension of six months provided for any violation.

Chet Wynne Fears Plainsmen Letdown

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Coach Chet Wynne is striving to prevent a letdown by his Auburn Plainsmen in their game with Florida "Ga. Tech" Saturday afternoon. In high spirits after their victory over Georgia Saturday, the Plainsmen went through a dummy scrimmage yesterday, a major injury was reported in the Saturday battle.

KLEIN-TRADED TO CUBS IN DEAL FOR 3 MEN, CASH

Ted Kleinhans Goes to Phils in $65,000 Transaction.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(AP)—After almost four years of persistent trying, the Chicago Cubs today finally purchased Chuck Klein, 1933 National league batting champion and one of the greatest left-handed hitters in baseball, from the Philadelphia Nationals.

Two veteran utility infielders—Mark Koenig and Harvey Hendrick—and Theodore Kleinhaus, a southpaw pitcher recently purchased from Atlanta, together with a bundle of cash, estimated at $65,000, will be given to the Phils by the Cubs for the batting star around whom the Cubs will build their attack and bid for the National league championship next season.

LONG WANTED.

Acting President William M. Walker, of the Cubs, announced today the long-sought deal had at last been consummated.

Probably no ball club pursued any player more insistently than the Cubs have Klein, who in six seasons with the Phils compiled the life-time major league batting average of .339 and won the 1933 National league batting crown with a mark of .363.

The late William Wrigley Jr. wanted him badly and at one time was reported to have offered $150,000 in cash for a straight sale, only to meet with refusal.

Both Koenig and Hendrick have been in the National and American leagues for years, a veteran of only 29 years, was with the New York Yankees and Detroit and then went to the Missions in the Pacific Coast league in 1932.

RECALLED.

The Cubs recalled him and he was one of the big factors in the drive for the pennant, batting .353. Last season he didn't play so frequently and his batting mark fell to .284.

Hendrick, formerly with the Yankees, Cleveland, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis, is 36 years old and batted .298 for the Cubs last season. Kleinhaus was regarded as a fine pitching prospect at Atlanta, where he won 19 and lost 13 last season.

Klein's presence in the Cub lineup is expected to bolster the club flag chances next season. The hard-hitting outfielder always has hit well at Wrigley field, home of the Cubs, with his short right-field swing.

He was ordered to his home run drive.

The new Cub star started his baseball career as an amateur at Indianapolis his first professional engagement was with the Chicago Cubs in 1927. He started in 1927, in 1928 he was sold to Philadelphia for a price reported ranging from $200 to $300 and started from the start, batting .380 his first season.

Crackers to Get "Dough" for Ted.

The use of Teddy Kleinhaus by the Chicago Cubs in the trade for Klein yesterday, automatically clinches the sales agreement Atlanta had with that club.

The Cubs purchased Kleinhaus from the Crackers at the end of the season on a conditional sales agreement that if he remained with the club after April 30, the Crackers would get the balance of the purchase price, $65,000, and a ball player.

In trading Kleinhaus to the Phils, along with Mark Koenig and Theodore Kleinhaus, the Cubs naturally obligated themselves for the full amount of the sales price and also the player promised Atlanta.

Officials of the Atlanta club will ask the Phils to give the Crackers first call on Kleinhaus in case he is optioned out. Kleinhaus was a great pitcher for the Crackers practically all of the season, leading the Southern league in strikeouts and winning 19 games for a tail-end club. He is 29 years old.

Independents Star In Bowling League

Much excitement reigned in the Motion Picture Bowling League last night as the eight teams were aligned on adjoining alleys in scheduled play and particular interest was centered on the leading teams as they matched scores with opponents.

The best of the bet by winning three games from the Universal team as the second-place Columbia team dropped a game to the Independents, giving the Independents a two-game lead.

Bill Thompson turned in his usual well-balanced set of three games for the Independent team. Gann was high along with Klotz and Helms on the Universal squad.

Lehman had 325 to top the Columbia quint as Johnson and Reid bowled big games for Paramount.

Swann had 318 on the M-G-M team; Stowe had 314 for R-K-O.; Foote, Katz and Angier had nice games for National Screen and Johnson and Alder topped the Fox.

Snowball, Football Not Very Good Mixers

It turned out all right, but a snowball might have cost Colgate a touchdown and a possible victory over Syracuse last week. Syracuse was leading 3-0, in the fourth quarter, and Colgate had the ball on the Orange 6 yard line.

As Glen Peters, Colgate center, bent over to pass, a spectator threw an icy snowball which struck Peters' left arm and showered his face with a blinding spray of snow. He made a bad pass, but the Kern recovered for Colgate.

Colgate scored their touchdown on the next play.

TIDE, DRILLS.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A heavy downpour failed to dampen the ardor of Alabama's Crimson Tide, leading the Southeastern conference title race, here today and Coach Frank Thomas charges went through a brisk workout. Most of the injured players came through the encounter with Georgia Tech in fair shape and the squad is expected to be in fine condition for the Vandy-bell game in Nashville Thanksgiving.

TITLE OFFER.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Barney Ross, of Chicago, lightweight champion of the world, today was offered $10,000 with a privilege of 37 1-2 per cent of the gross gate receipts to defend his title here Christmas night against the winners of the Eddie Cool-Frankie Klieck bout Monday.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

ALEX. J. MORRISON

WAGGLE CLUB BY MOVING WRISTS NOT ELBOWS

Alex Morrison says: A brief waggle of the club back and forth before starting your swing should help you to get away smoothly and easily, but there are ways of waggle the club.

The motion should be made with very little arm and body action; most of the movement being covered by an action of the wrists. Then you can be sure to benefit by the action.

If you find your elbow bending instead of your wrists, as is the case with a great many players, you have failed to loosen up your shoulders or body generally.

Start over again and move the club back and forth slowly until you can produce most of the action just in your wrists.

SMITHS, PURPLE END HARD WORK

By Roy White.

Boys' High and Tech High football squads held the last scrimmage of the week Tuesday afternoon as they continued preparations for Friday's championship game at Ponce de Leon park.

The Purple's workout, which was held in secrecy at Ponce de Leon, was a long and rough one. Coaches Royal and Mizell are seeking a strong back field combination. Carlisle Smith, star back, is suffering from a strained muscle in his side and is not likely to be his best at passing or punting.

He was used only a couple of minutes in the Savannah High game last Saturday afternoon. He will play in the game, however.

PUNTING DRILL.

George Gerakitis, Jack Crabbe and Mount, a lineman, were given special attention in a long punting drill by Coach Royal Tuesday. Gerakitis and Crabbe have punted some in regular games, but Mount is untried in competition.

Three other members of the Boys' High squad are not in the best of shape and will be able to play. Ray Thrash and Dick Jones are hurt in the game. Jones was hurt in the G. M. A. game and has not scrimmaged since, while Thrash was injured in the Banner High game two weeks ago.

Light workouts are scheduled for today and Thursday in the final preparations for the Ponce de Leon game.

Tech High continued its hard practice with special attention being given to the respective squads. Coach Gabe Gabe, Tech High, was given a brief scrimmage, the last of the week. The coaches are taking no chances on having any of the players injured and are working hard to see that the game is a rough one will be attempted this week.

The starting backfields are still very much in doubt, although those which saw service in the workouts Tuesday night will be the ones to face each other Friday afternoon.

Boys' High lineup had Atkinson at quarter, McQueen and Smith at half-back, and Jones at fullback. Brandes, who has been outstanding in recent practices, may be inserted in place of Smith, should the latter be unable to play.

Tech High's backfield Tuesday consisted of Dowling at quarter, Perry and Barnes at halfbacks and Newlands at fullback. Ellis was used at quarter and Dowling was shifted to half in place of Barnes in one of the combinations, while Schutte was substituted for Barnes in another.

Although the city championship game is attracting the majority of attention, Tech High is also preparing for prep games during the week-end.

University will close its season Thursday night at Ponce de Leon against Commercial and Russell High schools.

University will play its home game of the season Thursday afternoon at East Point with Fulton as its opponent. Decatur plays R. E. Lee, on Thursday, Friday night at Decatur.

G. M. A. will have an off day but will continue preparations for Lanier High, Thanksgiving day at Macon.

Bainbridge Stages Gordon-Cub Game

BAINBRIDGE, Nov. 31.—(AP)—Extensive preparations are being made to care for the largest football crowd seen here in many years when the Mercer University Freshman meet Gordon Institute team from Barnesville here Friday afternoon at Centennial field.

Jimmy Hitchcock, Auburn's All-American back of last year, will probably be the featured player in the game.

The battle will be the only game in south Georgia this year to be played by more than high school teams, and numbers of surrounding schools are playing their Friday contests on Thursday or Saturday to give players and townspeople an opportunity to watch the game.

Local sportsmen secured the contest chiefly because of the fact that Bainbridge boys—George Clift, Stuart McKenzie, Jack Morris, Edwin Varne and George Tate—the regulars for the Bear Cubs. Six other south Georgians will also be seen in action.

ROUGH RICHARD AND LITHUANIAN CLASH TONIGHT

Excellent Matches in Prospect; Zarnos Meets a Newcomer.

One of the best matches of the current wrestling season is promised for tonight when Rough Richard Davis, of the California badman, meets Sarna Ostapovich, the Lithuanian champion, in the feature match at the city auditorium.

This short preliminary match will open the show at 8:15 o'clock.

Jack Zarnos, one of Atlanta's favorite wrestlers, will meet a newcomer in Al Baffort, the French-Canadian star, in the match-up semi-main event.

Since coming to Atlanta several weeks ago, Ostapovich has created a sensation, defeating some of the best and toughest men in the business and by doing so has won a large following among the mat patrons. His recent victory over the terrible Chief Chechewski, the Indian terror, proved popular with the fans and tonight a large number will be pulling for him to take Davis out.

YOUTH VS. EXPERIENCE.

It will be a test between youth and experience, but the fans will not turn out to see him against someone like Ostapovich.

ZARNOS-BAFFORT.

Many fans will be glad to see Jack Zarnos and Baffort in the ring. Zarnos is a formidable foe. Baffort is reported to be an excellent wrestler. This hour of wrestling should be pleasing.

Matchmaker Henry Weber urges fans to purchase their tickets early so as to avoid the last-minute rush at the box office tonight. Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and will be until 6 o'clock tonight, at which time the auditorium box office will open.

Jones Warns L. S. U. Against Maroons

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Tiger eyes are glowing in anticipation of beating Tulane some 10 days hence when the two teams meet in Louisiana State University's chief grid tournament.

Grid tutors don't intend to let his men get overconfident of the first big game. Mississippi State if he can help it.

Jones and his assistants are calling attention to the fine work the Maroons have done on some Saturdays during the season.

Warring the big cats against taking anything for granted Saturday in Monroe, if the Mississippians are "hot."

Fine Horses Die In Fire at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Ten horses, including three thoroughbreds, valued at $1,000 each, died in a fire which destroyed the stables at the Memphis Hunt and Polo Club early today.

"Popularity" owned by Margot Hamilton, and winner of three blue ribbons, was the most valuable horse. "Purple Light" and "Crystal Spear," owned by Gale Burke, died in the blaze, as did "Chief," a saddle horse owned by Burke.

Fifty saddles and bridles were destroyed. Ten horses were led to safety. The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

BEATTIE FEATHERS IS ALL-AMERICAN

machines, but for those unfortunate breaks, Dodd thinks.

But back to the subject of Feathers—Bobby usually gets there right quick—he is confident that this great halfback will be done a terrible thing if he is left off either an All-Southern or All-American.

"He doesn't have to pass much, for Tennessee has Vaughan and Brackett and several other good passers and Coach Neyland uses Feathers mostly as a runner, kicker and pass receiver. But he can pass. I've seen him throw a ball 55 yards and accurately. He is capable of passing with the best in the country, but he is so good at running with the ball and catching passes, that he isn't called on much to throw them."

NOT SURPRISED.

The Sunday and Monday papers were full of Feathers' exploits. But Bobby Dodd wasn't at all surprised. That young man was encountered at Grant field Monday wearing an "I told you so" sign.

Bobby has always liked Feathers. He recalls a game with Kentucky when Tennessee had the ball on the Wildcats' 5-yard line and the quarterback forgot to call Feathers, or didn't call him. Anyway Bobby thought he would have won the game if he had. Neyland changed quarterback right then.

"You will recall that McEver didn't do any passing until his last year at Tennessee—1931—," Bob pointed out. He passed fairly well that year and had to do most of it for Neyland didn't have many passers. But McEver wasn't as good a passer, especially on the long throws, as Feathers.

As for running with the ball, Dodd thinks that possibly Beattie may have a slight edge there. Certainly Feathers is the greatest all-around halfback Tennessee's history. And only enough, both he and McEver hail from the same city, Bristol, Va., or Tennessee, whichever it is.

Bobby Dodd knows backfield men. Witnesses the fine work he has done in making a passer and kicker out of Jack Phillips this year and that with the other Tech backs.

"Tennessee take L. S. U. out of the race when they play," Robert Lee Dodd predicts. And Huey Long and his four teams to the contrary, we will string along with Bobby.

FINE START.

Nobody will be able to accuse Lou Little and Columbia of selecting a "breather" for the opening game of the 1934 season. The Lions will meet Yale at New Haven in their initial start next year.

THE SPORTLIGHT

Rule Changes and Low Scores.

There is no question that the crop or harvest of scoreless and low score football games has shown how much the defense dominates the offense.

There are several reasons for this. As Harry Kipke, of Michigan, put it, "Don't forget that most of the colleges now are playing money games with rivals of equal rank. The set-ups are out. And don't forget that when teams of equal rating meet, scoring will be a tough job under any set of rules."

As to any rule changes, the coaches are too far apart, too divided to prove any point. Many coaches want the "recovered fumble" rule changed back to the old order. Just as many do not.

Kipke, Bo McMillen, Harry Mehre, Wallace Wade and a number of others want that rule left as it is.

After talking with something like 30 leading coaches I have a feeling they tell you, "we'll abandon any offense in our own territory, kick the ball back and let the other side do the fumbling."

In spite of which, any ball downed inside the 10-yard side-line zone should certainly be moved out 15 yards instead of only 10.

Back to Tradition.

Overshadowing in the way of tradition many keen modern rivalries, Harvard and Yale have their fifty-second encounter this week, and Princeton resumes a meeting with Rutgers which began 64 years ago.

Day takes in many, many yesterday.

This coming Saturday is the day that carries the personal touch—brings out the deeper emotional appeal, regardless of any previous season's rose-tinted look. And this time not all, but many of these teams, are pretty well-matched, especially Harvard and Yale, California and Stanford, Georgia and Georgia Tech.

With Army's advantage over Navy depending largely on Navy's physical condition after a battering, bruising campaign for several years, and has served on numerous National Association committees.

Marist to Play At Warm Springs

Marist College, champions of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference, will play the Warm Springs High School eleven at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, it was announced Tuesday.

The game will be one of two which Warm Springs High will play in honor of President Roosevelt, who is spending two weeks' vacation at the resort. The president will be invited to see the game as a guest of the two teams.

Marist has an open date in its schedule this week and readily accepted the invitation of Warm Springs to play there on Friday afternoon.

The Big Chance.

Having emerged from the barren lands against Northwestern, where a spot Notre Dame is in right now if she can only grab the double opportunity!

Southern California This Week—Army the Next.

To slip from her trance and bowl over Northwestern, Southern California and Army would be one of the season's finest achievements.

And this is no impossible job when you consider the amount of power and speed Notre Dame can throw into each game.

The material is there and it has been well coached in fundamentals. All it needs is to click as a team—to battle for the common cause—to get just average leadership on the field—and each will have enough to beat Southern California and the Army.

But Notre Dame must figure that Southern California and the Army are going to be well directed and each is going to stay together as a team.

In Warburton and Johnson they have two of the best quarterbacks of the year. But neither team has the backfield dash and power that Notre Dame carries with Lukats, Pile, Ranas, Branchau, Young and Elser—and that South Bend line is a physical way, is not composed of dolls.

There is promise of drama yet from the home of the old Four Horsemen that has given the game so many thrills in the past. The season isn't over yet for the beaten or the unbeaten.

Seniors, Sophomores Clash at Emory

Seniors and Sophomores meet this afternoon at Emory in the last scheduled football game of the intramural season. Should the Seniors win, the leadership of the intramural league will be thrown into a tie between the Seniors and Sophomores.

In the first meeting of the two, the Freshmen came out victorious, 2-0, when a bad pass from center went over the Senior goal line. Since that game, the Sophomores have defeated the Freshmen, 14-0, and have held the Seniors to a scoreless tie.

BARGAIN IN LOVE

BY JANE DIXON

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

"You mean it's another bargain?" She managed. Jeffrey! The stubborn look at the back of his head. The freckles, unutterably dear. The jaw that thrust out to make him look rugged. When he was just a boy.

"Call it a new deal," Jeffrey took both her hands. "I've been in Mexico. In and out. I came back the day Mathilda wired me Henry Hume's wife had gone hay-wire. It took me a while to get back, too long, unfortunately, to prevent many axes grinding. My plane crashed and laid me up."

Sue, tightening the handclasp. Making sure the hands were real.

"Jeff, you should have let me know about the plane. You're all right? You're not hurt?"

"There seems to be hope for me," Jeffrey's quizzical eyes, smiling into Sue's. "And now about that new deal. I've an idea. We start on a basis of elimination. You mention names, in the order of their importance as a menace to the firm, and I'll supply the answers."

"Sounds fascinating," Sue, jotting down mentally her list. "Are you sure you know the answers?"

"I have some good ones," Sue began. "All ready?"

"Shoot."

"Private Enemy Number One—Beatrice Randall."

"Caught," Red-headed. Bea tossed the bust of Uncle Grizzly at you, Sue. Persons told me. He was at the other end of the hall and saw her throw it. He tried to tell you but didn't have a chance. He was being watched either by Bea or one of the servants in her pay. Bea arranged for the accident on the Boston road, too. The driver of the truck has been blackmailed her. He came to the house drunk one night, looking for her, and spilled the whole plot to Persons. Bea paid Jack Burton a thousand dollars and expenses to stage the petting party scene on the trail at Green Springs. I have the canceled check. Burton has disappeared—by request. Next name."

"Private Enemy Number Two—Herman Henschler."

"On his way west. Left at noon today. Herman's been educated. For example, he's learned that so long as he treats you right, he'll have enough money to see him through. Always providing he keeps a 'hands off' policy toward Tommy. Next name."

"Private Enemy Number Three—Mrs. Henry Hume."

"Oral confession of guilt and plea for mercy of the court. Henry broke his promise to you, Sue. I went to him and he told me the whole story. He's making his wife go through with the divorce. She doesn't want it, now, but she's got to take it. His offer of marriage is still open to you. Next name."

"Private Suspect—Mr. Gifford."

"Case dismissed. The suspect, Gifford, has testified that he was misled. False information was furnished him by Private Enemies One and Two. This information led to bias. He judged you were in the marriage racket for the well, for the money, and the position. Then you went back to work in Hume's office and Gifford kept track of you. He knows where and how you live. He watched your checks in the National States Bank. A few for Tommy, a few for your mother—none for yourself. So he revised his judgment. Now that he has the truth about the Hume affair, he's ready to lay down, roll over, sit up on his hind legs, and beg your pardon. Next name."

"Sue, relaxing, suddenly, in her chair. Lightness. She was a feather floating. She was a bird flying. A laugh on her lips. A song in her heart."

"There aren't any more names, Jeff. All the private enemies are eliminated."

"Jeffrey cleared his throat in the approved legal manner, assumed an air of extreme formality."

"Before court is adjourned," he said, "will Madame Judge permit the prosecuting attorney to address a question to the court?"

"Sue, catching his mood: "Are you the prosecuting attorney, sir?"

"I am."

"Then the prosecuting attorney may address a question to the court."

"Jeffrey was on his feet. His eyes, his mouth, his body and the soul of it an impassioned plea:

"Sue, do you love me?"

"There was nothing dignified about the conduct of the court for the next few minutes. Unless the action of a prosecutor lifting a Madame Judge from her chair, clasping her in his arms, murmuring love against her lips, her eyes, the dimple in her chin, the curls behind her ear, comes under the head of dignity."

As for Madame Judge, she did not seem to mind it at all. In fact, she appeared to encourage this extraordinary conduct on the part of the prosecutor.

The beige coat. Sue nestled a cheek against the soft fur of the collar. Her coat of destiny.

Morning. Sun peering behind the blinds of the late Casa Femina over Larry Rumson's garage, in Rumson, N. J. Vagrant breezes fluttering white ruffled curtains at open windows.

"Jeff, I sniff coffee. I'll bet Matty's sneaked in from the Rumsons across the hall and is doing something about breakfast."

"Dearest, do you love me?" Jeff's arms around her.

"Is love in the new deal?"

"It is. Clause I, Paragraph A, and all other clauses and paragraphs."

"Then—I adore you. I love you as much—"

Telephone. Sue, scurrying toward the living room:

"I'll answer, Jeff. I've a feeling it's Tommy."

It was Tommy. If only she could tell him how happy she was, how unbelievably, unutterably happy.

"Tommy, darling, however did you happen to call me this morning?"

"I don't know—I—well I might as well tell you—it's about Jeff. He's been to see me a couple of times lately, Sis, and he's got some kind of a crazy notion you're sorry you married him or something."

"Tommy! He couldn't have—possibly. How ridiculous!"

"That's what I told him. Only I got to thinking about it and—you know—Jeff's the best ever—"

"Of course he is, darling. The very best."

"Is he there now?"

"By, yes—yes, naturally."

"Then I can ring off. My math lesson today's a stinger. Say, Sis, wait till you see the saddle Jeff brought me from Mexico. He's sending me a horse, too. My own horse. (One that'll jump. And I made the football team. Quarterback.)"

"Tommy, No!"

"What do you mean, no? Didn't you think I'd made it?"

"Sue, do you love me? I meant—oh, darling, I'm so happy I don't know what I mean."

"You sound like—well, anyhow, gee, girls are funny. Guess I'd better get to boning that math."

"Tommy, Jeff just called to me. Your horse will be up tomorrow. King me and tell me all about it."

"Where will I ring?"

"Here, at our flat. Our honeymoon flat if we should be out, call Matty at the Randall home. You have the number. Matty will be there cleaning house."

Georgia Products Dinner Assembles Prominent Atlantans

The Georgia products dinner given by Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., Tuesday evening, November 21, at 6:30 o'clock at Habersham hall, 270 Fifteenth street, N. E., assembled a number of prominent Atlantans. At the honor table with the regent, Mrs. E. K. Rambo, were seated Mrs. Julian McCurry, state D. A. HASTINGS' ROSES GEORGIA GROWN Hastings' roses are acclimated, grown in Georgia. At our nursery at Jonesboro, Georgia, we are growing at the present time more than 150,000 roses. We believe that Georgia Grown Roses are best for growing in Georgia—that they will grow faster, bloom better and will generally be more satisfactory than those grown in other sections of the country, where conditions are different.

Miss Wynne Weds Mr. Wilcox At St. Luke's Church Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JAMES GADSDEN WILCOX.

Characterized by beauty and simplicity was the wedding of Miss Harriett Wynne and James Gadsden Wilcox, of Atlanta, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., which took place at a quiet ceremony Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock at St. Luke's Episcopal church. Rev. John Moore Walker, rector of St. Luke's, performed the ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of relatives and friends.

White chrysanthemums, ferns, smilax and other foliage plants featured the decorations throughout the church. Giant cybidium ferns and palms were banked at either side of the steps leading into the chancel and from the center of each bank arose a floor standard holding white chrysanthemums effectively arranged. Cybidium ferns were banked in the choir pews and at either side of the altar, which held numbers of lighted tapers in candelabra. The satin-covered prie-dieu was placed before the altar and at either side of the altar were aisle posts topped with clusters of white chrysanthemums. The altar was draped with garlands of asparagus fern and two gold vases placed on the altar held white chrysanthemums.

Directly above the altar two rosettes of woodwardia fern were suspended and from them garlands of smilax were festooned to the side walls. Garlands of asparagus fern were draped above the choir stalls and asparagus fern was draped from the wall brackets at the sides of the church. Clusters of white chrysanthemums marked the pews occupied by members of the families.

Wedding Personnel.
John Wilcox, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Arthur Duff and Cleveland Wilcox. Hugh Hodgson was in charge of the musical program, giving appropriate selections preceding the ceremony and playing the wedding march from Lohengrin to herald the entrance of the bride party, using the recessional by Mendelssohn.

Miss Jaquelin Moore, who acted as maid of honor, and the bride's only attendant, was a smart figure in her eel-gray model of loosely woven woolen material combined effectively with satin in a matching tone. A satin bow finished the high neckline in the front and the full sleeves were open at the top and fitted from elbow to wrist. She wore a light eel-gray woolen hat trimmed at the top with cut-steel beads and edged with a brief veil. Her slippers and accessories matched the costume in color. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses and bronze and yellow snapdragons tied with bronze-colored ribbon.

Lovely Blond Bride.
The bride's blond loveliness was perfectly offset by her traveling costume of Asiatic blue angora woolen, a Germaine Montell model, which was stylishly fitted to her slender figure. Blue clips fastened the front and two of the clips ornamented the belt. A straight scarf of the same material finished the neckline and the long sleeves were set in at the shoulders with vertical epaulets. The paneled skirt achieved a slight flare at the hemline. Her small hat of the same material had a tiny brim and was trimmed with a little bow of black Persian lamb, matching the handsome flared capelet of Persian lamb worn about her shoulders reaching to elbow length. She carried a muff of the Persian lamb to which a cluster of exotic deep purple orchids were caught. Lekoy F. Wynne gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. LeRoy F. Wynne, mother of the bride, was attractively gowned in hunter's green wool crepe contrasting with the satin trim in the same tone of green. Her Milgrim hat was of green felt in the same shade and she wore a shoulder cluster of gardenias and valley lilies. Mrs. William F. Wilcox, mother of the bridegroom, wore a handsome gown of black velvet and a brimmed hat of black velvet. Completing her costume was a shoulder cluster of gardenias and valley lilies.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding included Mrs. Louis Anderson of Montgomery, Ala.; Miss L. Clifford Wilcox, of Saluda, N. C.; Mrs. James Brawner Little, of Gadsden, Ala.; Judge and Mrs. W. B. Hollingsworth, Miss Louise Hollingsworth and Mrs. J. W. Culpepper, of Fayetteville, Ga.; Mrs. Lena Felker Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. George Felker and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Felker, all of Monroe, La.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox left for a wedding trip, the destination of which was not revealed. On their return the couple will reside at 1273 Piedmont avenue and will be welcomed into Atlanta's circle of popular young married couples.

Miss Julietta Arias Will Be Honored.

Miss Julietta Arias, of Panama, who has recently arrived to join her parents, Doctor and Mrs. Raimon Arias, at their home in Druid Hills, will be honored guest in a small party given by Mrs. David B. Mitchell, at the dance at the Biltmore hotel, which takes place in the Georgian ballroom this evening at 9 o'clock.

Lieutenant Christian Clarke, who will have a party of six, Martin Amorous will entertain four, Miss Ruth Brooke will have six at her table, Lawrence Harris, of New York, will entertain a party in honor of Miss Jane Sharpe, who has returned from New York. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Luther Williford, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Otley, Doctor and Mrs. A. G. De Loach, Mr. and Mrs. Williford Leach, Doctor and Mrs. W. C. Warren Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Candler Jr.

Mrs. Thompson Fetes Visitor at Luncheon.

Mrs. R. L. Bethea, of Louisville, Ga., is forming the inspiration for a number of informal gatherings as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Thompson at their home on Thirteenth street. Today Mrs. Thompson will compliment her guest at a bridge-luncheon at her home, inviting only a few close friends.

Invited to meet the honor guest will be Mesdames Cecil Holleran, Gertrude Denny, J. L. Roberson, Varney Ward, Stockton Hume, C. S. Thompson, Wallace Cowan, Vernon Yoel, and Ed Hooks. Mrs. Bethea will remain in Atlanta until next week and on her return will be accompanied to Louisville by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Henry Thompson Jr., who will spend Thanksgiving there.

Hightower—Hyde.

AMERICUS, Ga., Nov. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Joel Walter Hightower announce the marriage of their daughter, Susan Clifford, to Joseph Reeves Hyde Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., the wedding having been quietly solemnized Tuesday, November 14, at the home of Mr. Hyde's parents, on Chase place, in Memphis. Dr. W. O. Shewmaker, professor of Bible at Southwestern University, officiated.

The following interesting speakers will lead the discussion of the book "Christ in the World." Mrs. Ryland Knight, Mrs. R. L. Turman, Mrs. Carlton W. Binns, Mrs. George Mathieson and Mrs. S. L. Taylor. The meeting will adjourn promptly at 1 o'clock and luncheon will be served. The members are requested to bring sandwiches.

TARZAN THE INVINCIBLE No. 69

Zora was walking in advance of Wamala, who was carrying both the rifle she had used in her hunting, while behind them were the porters with the kill. Just as she was about to enter the clearing, Araba leaped from the underbrush on either side of the trail.

Two of them seized Wamala, while others laid heavy hands upon Zora. She tried to free herself from them and draw her revolver, but the attack had taken her so by surprise that before she could accomplish anything in defense, she was overpowered and her hands were bound.

"What is the meaning of this?" she demanded. "Where is Abu Batn?" The men laughed. "You shall see him presently," said one. As she stepped into the clearing she was astounded by what she saw. Every tent had been struck. The Arabs were ready to march.

The blacks were lined up before heavy loads. All the rest of the paraphernalia of the camp, which Abu Batn had not men enough to transport, was heaped in a pile in the center of the clearing, and even as she looked she saw men setting torches to it.

NEW ARMS MEET HELD POSSIBILITY

Leading Delegates Favor
Getting Germany Back in League.

GENEVA, Nov. 21.—(P)—A new world disarmament conference was organized today by the League of Nations and the League of Nations Council.

At the same time a battle in a conference steering committee meeting tomorrow loomed over the question of whether all work at Geneva should be suspended during the recess.

Several leading delegates had agreed that the conference president, Arthur Henderson, of Great Britain, should be authorized to convene sub-committees if he deemed it wise and that during the interim parallel conversations should be conducted by the various powers with the object of getting Germany back into the negotiations.

Nothing authoritative was attached to the talk of the new conference but it was understood that during the interim parallel conversations should be conducted by the various powers with the object of getting Germany back into the negotiations.

NEGRO ADMITS KILLING IN MISSISSIPPI HOLDUP

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 21.—(P)—Pearlie Davis, 24-year-old police character, today confessed to Jackson officers that he shot and killed Spiro Rafakas, restaurant owner, during a holdup last Sunday.

Chief of Police John E. Simmons and Detective J. D. Pittman, who announced the confession, said the negro claims he "was drinking" and "didn't know" what he was doing.

Six Drivers Denied Use of Their Autos

Judge Jesse M. Wood continued to apply the driver's privilege suspension for drunken driving in criminal court Tuesday, when he passed 12 months' sentences in six cases, suspending them on condition the accused relinquish the right to drive a car for one year.

Those who came under the ban Tuesday are H. A. Stacy, L. J. Harker, Aaron Watson, Marvin Putnam, L. J. Scott and Charles Erwin, the last one a negro. With the exception of Watson, all received fines of $25 in addition to the suspended 12-month term imposed.

'ALFALFA BILL' MARKS 64TH ANNIVERSARY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 21.—Sixty-four years ago today Governor W. H. (Alfalfa) Bill Murray was born at Tonsdale, Texas.

Among gifts he received was a huge tom-tom sent by the Ponca Indian tribe. Names of tribal members were painted on the drum.

Mrs. Murray said her husband apparently forgot this was his birthday and said nothing about it when he arose, ate breakfast and started for the office afoot.

EDWIN COOLEEDGE DROPS DEAD HERE

Official of Paint and Glass Firm Is Victim of Heart Attack.

Edwin M. Cooleedge, 38, vice president and treasurer of the F. J. Cooleedge & Sons, paint and glass dealers, died suddenly at his desk in the Cooleedge plant, 1314 Murphy avenue, at about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. He resided at 1761 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mr. Cooleedge was found slumped forward in his chair by C. P. Powell, cashier. Mr. Powell and other associates called two physicians but Mr. Cooleedge was dead when they arrived. Death resulted from a heart attack, an ailment from which Mr. Cooleedge had suffered for some time but not so severely as to interfere with his business. His fellow workers said he had appeared in good health when he reported at his office and that he was in excellent spirits.

Mr. Cooleedge had been engaged in the paint and glass business since he was graduated from Vanderbilt and Cornell Universities, and was widely known throughout the industry. He was a native of Atlanta and attended school here, being graduated from Boys' High school. His family was distantly related to the late Calvin Coolidge, though the former president spelled his name differently.

Surviving Mr. Cooleedge are his wife, who was Miss Suetje Holmes, of Atlanta; a daughter, Suetje, three years of age; his father, F. J. Cooleedge Sr.; two sisters, Mrs. Rhodes Haverly, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Powers Pace, of Pittsburgh, and three brothers, F. J. Cooleedge Jr., Aurelian H. Cooleedge and Harold N. Cooleedge, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill. Dr. Ryland Knight and the Rev. M. Ashby Jones will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery, with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

The following will be pallbearers: A. A. Meneely, C. B. Crenshaw, C. Powell, Harry C. Robert, Robert Greer Martin and E. L. Farmer.

U. S. TRADE COMMISSION DELAYS POWER PROBE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(P)—The federal trade commission announced today that due to the illness of an important witness the hearing on an investigation of two South Carolina properties of the Associated Gas and Electric Company had been postponed.

The properties investigated, under a senate resolution ordering a probe of utilities and holding companies, were the Lexington Water Power Company and the Broad River Power Company, Judson C. Dickinson, employee of the commission who made the study of the companies, has been ill.

CWA Funds Available For Surveys, Mapping

Henry McIntosh, regional advisor of the public works administration, said Tuesday he had received information from Washington that "it is understood that projects for preparation of maps, surveys, studies and mapping will be eligible for assistance from the funds of the newly established Civil Works Administration."

The information came in a letter from Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the national planning board of the federal emergency administration of public works, addressed to city, county, regional and state planning organizations.

Mr. McIntosh, the advisor on public works for Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, said some projects which could not be considered by the public works administration apparently would be in position to receive aid from the civil works administration. Applications for such projects should be addressed to local or state civil works agencies.

DR. BOWCOCK SPEAKS AT DENTISTS' MEETING

Dr. Harold Bowcock, of Atlanta, read a paper on "The Surgical and Medical Management of the Mouth of the Diabetic" at the monthly meeting of the Fifth District Dental Society at the Academy and Medicine Tuesday night. The paper included a discussion of the diet factors of diabetes.

Dr. Bowcock has made an intensive study of diabetes and because of numerous papers on the subject is known as an authority on the subject. He said the mouth of the diabetic presents a problem to the dental profession that few dentists offer.

Dr. R. D. Robinson, president of the Georgia Dental Association, presided at the meeting.
